America Drops Behind Japanese And Dutch in Olympic Swimming

NIPPON ACES SET WORLD MARKS

Jack Medica Wins Heat; U. S. Yacht Racers Out of Running

BERLIN. (AP)—America's swimmers continued to take the wash of the Japanese and the Dutch today as the end of sensational track and field competition left the 11th Olympic games bereft of their prime attraction.

Olive McKean of Seattle and Katherine Rawls of Miami, Fla., finished sixth and seventh, respectively, in the women's 100 meters free-style final which Rita Mastenbroek of Holland won in new Olympic record time of 1:05.9, displacing Helene Madison's former standard of 1:06.8. America's 800 meter free style relay team of Charlie Nutter, Ralph Gilman, Paul Wolf and Jack Medica won its trial heat in 9:10.4 and qualified for tomorrow's final but appeared to have no chance against a crack Japanese quartet which set a new Olympic record of 8:56.1 in winning its heat.

BEET HARVEST BEGINS HERE

Orange county's annual beet harvest was starting slowly today, with small crews in the field on what was termed by growers as a "warming up" activity for the usual late summer campaign, which will probably start Wednesday or Thursday and bring 500 men into the field.

When full field crews swing into action, the Holly Sugar factory will start operations, employing about 300 men, it was announced. The Delhi plant is expected to be opened for the usual late summer run on Wednesday.

A lighter crop than last year is anticipated by many growers, Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg said today, due mainly to dry weather, which has affected some beet acreage. Returns will be slightly less on the average, he said, although some growers report better than average crops.

HUGHES OFF ON MYSTERY HOP

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Howard Hughes, millionaire sportsmen-flier who cloaks his aviation exploits in mystery, took off early today from Union Air terminal in his transport "flying laboratory" plane loaded with 1250 gallons of fuel. His destination was unannounced.

Hughes recently received an allotment from the federal government of a special radio wave length for possible use on a flight around the world. He denied he contemplated such a project in the immediate future, but admitted he would use the radio for "several long hops."

Hughes holds the Los Angeles-New York transcontinental record and the world land plane speed record. He purchased the "flying laboratory," so-called because of its use by an airline, several months ago.

New Deal Forum's G.O.P. Boss Wins

By BRADEN FINCH

Political opposition to the Orange county public forum, that $23,205 New Deal educational project, apparently is doing a fadeout.

Latest news over the "grapevine" is to the effect that the "Ham" Cotton faction, reputedly in control of WPA activities here, has seen the light and knuckled under.

The forum had tough going at first, because of a mysterious and unexplained difficulty in getting office help from the WPA list. It has even been reported that Forum Director Homer C. Chaney had to wait two weeks to get a WPA typist, although the woods are full of them.

Nor could Chaney get anybody certified to the project from the WPA for important matters that had to be taken care of, such as publicity and public contact work.

Yeah, It's Politics

It was beginning to be whispered around that Cotton, Dan Mulherron and others in the county Democratic machine, were sore at Chaney and Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson for putting several prominent Republicans on the forum advisory board, instead of making it 100 per cent Democrats, although the advisory board members don't get any pay.

They didn't like the fact, either, that Chaney himself was a registered Republican and prominent in G. O. P. political activities.

Then Order Comes

Just what definitely changed the picture is not known. But it is rumored that the local WPA office was suddenly dumbfounded by an order direct from Washington which said:

"Workers who are qualified by training and experience to be assigned to work projects and who are eligible as specifically provided by law and by these regulations shall not be discriminated against on any grounds whatever, such as race, religion, or POLITICAL AFFILIATION. (The caps are ours.)

Chaney Is Boss Now

Immediately the WPA sent 10 workers in a lump rushing out to Chaney's office at Willard school. Everything was made easy to get the forum under way. And now Chaney seems to be undisputed boss of the situation with lots of cooperation from the Cotton camp.

Political opposition from Republicans who objected to the project is fast dying out, except in a few of the die-hard spots, it appears. Reports from Anaheim, a G. O. P. stronghold, indicate that the general public is hot for the speaking program that Chaney has arranged, even if some of the so-called party chiefs are not.

Meanwhile, it is interesting to note that Chaney has to make five speeches a week himself during the five or six months which the forum will run. The job does not seem to be an office snap as previously implied by its critics.

FAMED NEWS MAN DIES

Brilliant Career of Lincoln Steffens Closes at 70 Years

CARMEL, (AP)—Lincoln Steffens, crusading leader in the socalled "muckraking" era of American journalism, is dead.

The 70-year-old writer, lecturer and one-time newspaper and magazine editor, succumbed to a heart ailment at his Carmel home, pressing with his last, feeble strength the hand of his divorced wife, Ella Winter, radical author.

Their 10-year-old son, Peter, who friends said was the inspiration of one of Steffens' last works—his autobiography—was also at the bedside when death came shortly before 6 p. m., yesterday.

Educated in California and universities of Europe, Steffens, a native of San Francisco, entered the newspaper field in New York and in 1902 became managing editor of McClure's magazine.

In this position and later, as associate editor of the American and Everybody's magazine, he encouraged the school of journalism to which President Theodore Roosevelt applied the term of "muckrake."

Steffens led the crusade, aimed at fraud, graft and social injustice in both public and private affairs, with his series of articles on "The Shame of the Cities," "The Struggle for Self-Government" and others.

In his later years he became what friends described as a "Philosophic Communist."

He had remained intensely interested in social and economic affairs to the last and was editor of the "Pacific Weekly," published at Carmel as a forum of fact and left wing opinion on the West Coast.

Young Democrats 'Save Their Smoke'

Young Democrats organizations will definitely not enter any primary campaign. They'll save their thunder for the general election in November.

This was the word brought back from the state conference today by Stanley Clem, president of the Santa Ana organization, who was among Orange county Democrats attending the session in Long Beach over the week-end.

WARRANT OUT FOR ASTOR WITNESS

George Kaufman Arrest Ordered in Hollywood Marital Mixup

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A bench warrant was issued today for George S. Kaufman, Broadway dramatist, as Mary Astor, auburn-haired film actress, was cross-examined concerning her relations with him.

Miss Astor took the witness stand for cross-examination in her marital dispute with Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, and immediately a flurry of objections interrupted the questioning.

Miss Astor snapped back at Attorney Joseph Anderson with "I am not sure," "That is untrue," "Not that I remember," and "I don't recall" as he asked her if it was not true that "you had been living with George Kaufman in various places in the United States."

Kaufman, under subpoena issued by Anderson to testify for Dr. Thorpe, was not in court.

Previously Attorney Anderson said that Kaufman's name figured in the diary kept by the actress, portions of which may be introduced in evidence later.

CONSUL HILL 'INSULTED'

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Ricardo G. Hill, Mexican consul here, today demanded "due satisfaction" in the name of his government for an incident in which he charged he had been insulted and manhandled by a police lieutenant.

In a communication to Chief of Police James E. Davis, the consul said:

"I regret to inform you this evening Lieut. Peter Delgado of your department insulted and manhandled me in the lobby of the Hayward hotel, stating that my official capacity was of no concern to him.

"In the name of the government of Mexico I protest against your officer's conduct and behavior and demand due satisfaction."

Hill said a similar message had been sent to the Mexican embassy at Washington.

The incident, which he said occurred Saturday evening, was declared to have developed from an altercation over the management of the National Tipica orchestra, which has played here during the last 10 days.

Chief Davis and Lieutenant Delgado issued denials of the consul's charges and the chief ordered Delgado to submit a full report of the incident.

BRIBE SUSPECT SURRENDERS

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Joseph Weinblatt, broker and politician, surrendered today to the sheriff's office on an indictment charging him with bribery and grand theft in connection with the grand jury's investigation into alleged liquor license racketeering.

Erwin P. (Pete) Werner, former Los Angeles City Attorney, and his wife, Helen, known as "the queen of Los Angeles politics," surrendered last week on a similar indictment.

"I don't want to make any formal statement until I get advice from my attorneys. But I'm not guilty. This thing is a lot of hooey. If Mrs. Werner got any money, I never got any of it."

CORN CROP TO BE MEAGER

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A corn crop of only 1,439,135,000 bushels—the smallest indicated harvest in more than 50 years—was forecast for 1936 today by the federal crop reporting board.

The indicated corn production, cut down by weeks of hot, dry weather, will be about 2.6 per cent less than the short crop of 1934 when another serious drought swept the country. The 1936 crop was estimated to be about 56 per cent of the average yield.

The crop reporting board forecast spring wheat production at 113,648,000 bushels and said the condition of this crop was only 32.8 per cent of normal.

Russian Fliers At Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN, Alaska. (AP)—The Moscow-bound Russian fliers, Sigismund Levanevsky and Victor I. Levechenko, landed here at 12:55 p. m. today from Bella Bella, B. C., where they had been held by bad weather since Saturday. They planned to continue their flight to Juneau shortly.

HOOK BEARDSLEE AND 'BY-C' GO EAST

Seeking further fields to conquer, H. L. "Hook" Beardslee, international Star boat sailing champion, left Newport-Balboa early today on a 3000-mile overland trip with a special trailer carrying his famed "By-C," with which he has won the international races for the past two years.

Accompanying the champion were his crew, Myron Lehman, and Mrs. Beardslee and the two Beardslee children. They are traveling in a specially equipped car and carry letters of introduction to mayors of many cities along Beardslee and his passengers are heading for Rochester, N. Y., where the annual international races are scheduled to open Sept. 2 for a five-day run. He hopes to arrive several days before start of the regatta in order to get the "By-C" in shape and try out the waters of Lake Ontario, where the races will be run.

Before leaving Newport-Balboa this morning, the international champion was presented an official Newport Harbor flag, to fly during the contests. Beardslee continued his winning streak by winning the Southern California Star boat series at Newport during the past week.

In 1934 the Newport pilot won a close race from Glen Waterhouse, San Francisco sailor, for the international trophy. Waterhouse is now representing the United States in the Olympic Games in Germany. Beardslee repeated his victory last year at Newport, when he defeated 19 yachtsmen, representing many foreign yacht clubs. This year he expects to face many more competitors, due to the large number of "stars" on the eastern seaboard.

Women Fight Side by Side With Men In Spain

Standing side by side with the men, Spanish women have been battling furiously in revolution-torn Spain, and thousands have been killed and wounded in the fighting. Above are pictured a group of women who signed up with the loyal government forces at Madrid to bear arms. It was reported that the loyalist forces are comprised one-tenth by women.

BLAZES RAGE IN 7 STATES

Two Deaths Result From Fires; 100,000 Acres Burn Near San Jose

(By the Associated Press)

Forest fires burned ahead stubbornly in seven states today, destroying valuable timber, homes and farms and defying the efforts of thousands of men.

While the numerous crews of fire fighters and scores of evacuated families looked hopefully for rain, plumes of smoke rolled over wooded sections in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington and California.

Two deaths were attributed to fires. Archie Murphy, 22, a CCC enrollee from Sioux Falls, S. D., was injured fatally when a falling timber crushed him. An unidentified man was burned to death in the vicinity of Palo and Markham, Minn.

BLAZE RAGING AT SAN JOSE

SAN JOSE, (AP)—Weary fire fighters, aided by light showers and cooler weather, today were mopping up on Santa Clara's worst brush fire in years.

More than 100,000 acres of land has already been burned over, and thousands of wild animals have perished, state fire and game officials declared. The first may result in closing Mount Hamilton region to deer hunters for the rest of this season.

In addition to killing hundreds of deer, quail and rabbits, the Coyote watershed, which provides water for Coyote Dam, key to the Santa Clara Valley water conservation project, has been extensively damaged, state forestry department heads announced.

LANDON OFFICE OPENING HERE

Brooms and dust rags were busy today, with ardent Republicans on the working end.

Opening of a Landon-for-President headquarters for Santa Ana at 606 North Main street was under way. The office, to be headquarters of the local Republican campaign, is in the Santa Ana Hotel building.

Dr. W. E. Dixon will manage the headquarters, assisted by an office staff to be chosen later.

Right House, Wrong Butler Baffles Actor

Kept overtime the other night on the set for "Libeled Lady," Powell at last hopped into his machine and sped home in makeup.

When he arrived at the front door he tore off his collar and rang the bell. A strange butler answered.

Then Bill remembered. He had just sold his home and was living in another in Beverly Hills.

Farm Bureau Says Budget 'Swell'

Such was the tone of a statement given out today by the Orange County Farm Bureau, commending action of the board of supervisors in cutting the tax rate and cutting expenditures. The statement was prepared by the bureau's tax committee on recommendation of the board of directors, and issued today by D. R. Gardner, vice president and chairman of the tax committee.

"One of those rare things in government" in cutting expenditures and taxes was given a hearty O. K. by the bureau. The statement follows:

Budget Analyzed

"In line with the established policy of the Orange County Farm Bureau, the tax committee has carefully analyzed the proposed budget of the board of supervisors for the 1936-37 fiscal year. In the opinion of the farm bureau, the supervisors in this budget have done one of those rare things in government wherein they have both reduced the amount of money to be raised and have reduced the tax rate at a time when the assessed valuation has been reduced over last year. In our opinion they have gone still further and have given to property owners a reduction to which they were entitled through the return of public utility property to the county tax rolls.

"In June, 1933, the people voted a tax plan for the prupose of reducing the unreasonable heavy load of property taxes in California wherein the counties' share of school taxes was transferred to the state to be raised from sources other than property and returned public utility property to the county tax rolls, effective January 1, 1935.

Valuations Increased

"We have, therefore, considered the expenditures in the fiscal year 1934-35 or the year ending June 30, 1935, as being the base year for calculating this reduction insofar as the return of public utility property was concerned. The valuations of utility property during the last fiscal year increased the general valuations 9.7 per cent in Orange county. Therefore, if the expenditures over 1934-35 are not increased, the actual tax load on the average in Orange county should be reduced to this extent insofar as county government is concerned.

"The supervisors in this proposed budget for 1936-37 are proposing to raise some $55,000 less than they raised in 1934-35. Our position is not to be construed to approve all the details of the county budget inasmuch as this position deals with the total, which after all is the main concern of the taxpayers."

COUNTY RELIEF CASES DROP

There were 1750 fewer persons on relief in Orange county last week than there were in February when relief reached a peak of 6500 cases.

That was the report of B. V. Curry, county welfare director, today after a survey. Included in the cases are all persons on WPA, PWA, SERA, and similar relief agencies, as well as direct county aid. Last week's total of all agencies was 4750 cases.

GIRL KILLING ADMITTED

Negro Hotel Employe Confesses Shooting Helen Clevenger

ASHEVILLE, N. C., (AP)—Martin Moore, 22, negro hotel employe, has confessed, Sheriff Laurence Brown said, that he killed Helen Clevenger, blonde New York co-ed, in a moment of panic when he went to her room to rifle it.

Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles said the gangling hall boy at the fashionable Battery Park hotel, where the New York university student was staying, would be tried at a term of court beginning next Monday.

Denies Assault

The prisoner, arrested Saturday night and questioned for hours before Sheriff Brown said he confessed he shot and clubbed the 18-year-old girl to death, was held in the county's penthouse jail atop its skyscraper courthouse.

Moore denied that he attempted to assault the girl. Robbery, the sheriff quoted the confession, was his only motive and he entered the room, after trying several others, on finding the door unlocked.

Relates Killing

"When I got in the room," the sheriff said the confession related, "she screamed, and that's why I shot her."

"She screamed some more, and started to run out. I struck her with the gun. When she fell on the floor, I struck her several times more to stop her screaming. . . ."

Sheriff Brown said he was convinced that the girl had not been assaulted.

Kin's Death Takes Harwoods East

FASCISTS IN CONTROL AT SANTANDER

Government Says Revolt Failing As Guns Pound at San Sebastian

By the Associated Press

Capture of the town and province of Santander, on the Bay of Biscay, was announced by a Spanish rebel radio station today as word filtered through that other far northern communities faced shortage of both food and water.

Targets of bitter Fascist attacks by both shell and rifle fire as the rebels fought for access to the northern seaboard which would assure them more arms and ammunition, the northern, Loyalist-held communities of San Sebastian, Renteria and Irun were reported to be fighting doggedly for their existence.

Rebel Guns Roar

Madrid heard that great concentrations of insurgent troops were stacking arms and taking inventory just to the south of the beleaguered bay towns in preparation for an assault intended to wipe out every vestige of leftist military control in the far north.

Rebel guns pounded away at San Sebastian. Food was scarce and water was being rationed.

The capture of Santander, if the rebel radio report from Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, proved to be correct, would be a signal strategic victory for the forces attempting to overthrow Madrid's leftist regime.

Mass in South

Coincident with fresh insurrectionist claims of victory was a government announcement that the civil war was near its death. Leftists said 13 Spanish communities dominated by rebels had been captured.

But in the south, where insurgents are massing, reinforced by Spanish Moroccan troops, the Fascists occupied the hills sur-

STORMS LASH LAKES AREA

A 60-mile-an-hour wind — accompanied by thunder, lightning and blinding rain—swept out of the north last night. Scores of boats were caught in the squall.

Coast guard vessels labored through turbulent waters to the rescue of 14 sailing sloops, launches and yachts and several score of passengers.

One drowning was reported at Milwaukee, another in the Rock River at Sterling, Ill. Wisconsin also reported a lightning death.

Trees were uprooted, poles toppled, communication lines torn down and streets littered by debris in Chicago. Several buildings were struck by lightning here. Ninety fire alarms were turned in.

Rain—ending 42 days of aridity here—fell in Northern Illinois, Northern Indiana and Wisconsin, while parts of Minnesota were refreshed by showers.

Campaign Shooting Starts!

The Democratic-Republican presidential battle in Orange county got under way today as county campaign chairmen of both parties accepted the challenge to fight it out in the columns of The Journal every day between now and election in November. You'll want to read this great public debate daily to get all the facts on both sides straight from headquarters. This is going to be a knock-down, drag-out war of words. The big guns are firing the first shots today on page 7. Follow the political campaign in The Journal

17 ARE HURT IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

With one accident victim of last week still near death in the county hospital from a fractured skull, the traffic toll of injuries was light in Orange county over the week-end.

Blas Salazar, 35, Garden Grove, was still in semi-conscious and critical condition in the hospital from injuries sustained Wednesday afternoon in a crash at Ninth and Lampson streets. Seventeen more persons were injured over the week-end, none seriously.

Ira Cole, 10, of 1107 West First street, was in the county hospital today under treatment for a fractured leg and a lacerated face, incurred yesterday afternoon when he was knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by James Wood, 33, San Juan Capistrano. The accident occurred at Fourth and Main streets as the boy assertedly turned left in front of the auto.

Auto Strikes Tree

When the car he was driving struck a tree in a Santa Ana boulevard orchard Saturday night, Pablo Holquin, 41, was cut about the arms as the steering wheel broke. He appeared later for treatment at the county hospital, while police notified Bill Payne, Anaheim, owner of the car. The registration slip and driver were both gone when officers arrived at the scene.

Mrs. B. L. Taulbee, Anaheim, was treated at Santa Ana Valley hospital last night for an injured shoulder sustained at Fourth and Parton streets in an auto crash. Her car was involved in a collision with an auto driven by Jack Marr, 15, 837 East Second street. Police cited Marr for driving without an operator's license and also cited his mother on charges of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate the car.

Five in One Crash

Five persons were injured Saturday afternoon on West Garden Grove road when a tire on a car driven by Mrs. Franklyn Foutz, 34, Long Beach, blew out, causing the auto to overturn. The driver was slightly injured. Others injured were Mrs. T. J. Rice, 65, of 1011 West Second street; Mrs. May Huntley, 60, Long Beach; Dorothy Armstrong, 58, Long Beach, and Mrs. F. E. Wessinger, 26, of 1011 West Second street. All were given first aid by California highway patrol officers, and Mrs. Wessinger was treated at Santa Ana Valley hospital for cuts and bruises.

George Click, 40, Anaheim, was treated at the county hospital for bruises and lacerations following an accident Saturday on Chapman avenue. Drivers involved were Nevada Hubbert, 59, Los Angeles, and Dick Crespin, 51, Anaheim.

Burned by Gasoline

Ralph Rambu, 47, of 1802 West Washington street, was burned by gasoline and bruised Saturday night on Newport road when his motorcycle crashed into the rear of a car driven by Esteban Rodriguez, 38, of 1133 West Second street. Rambu was treated at the county hospital.

Seven - year - old Jimmie Lange, Glendale, incurred several broken ribs yesterday afternoon in an accident north of Costa Mesa on Newport road. Cars driven by Ernest Child, 56, Glendale, and Jack Osborn, 20, Glendora, collided, injuring three other persons. Others injured were Osborn, Mrs. Josephine Lange, 40, Glendale; and Mrs. Elizabeth Child, 60, Glendale.

Other Accidents

B. F. Brooks, Long Beach, was treated at the county hospital yesterday for bruises on head and arms, incurred when his car skidded and overturned in Santa Ana canyon. Pearl Brooks, 23, incurred a sprained ankle, and Alice Dobson, Long Beach, was cut and bruised.

Cars driven by Lawrence Ricker, Fullerton, and Marvin Wagner, 736 East Wood street, collided early yesterday on Santa Ana boulevard, both drivers escaping injury. Mrs. Viola E. Goss, 212 East Cubbon street, and David Gamage, Los Angeles, were drivers of cars which crashed at Chestnut and Main streets last night. No one was injured.

LINDY IRKED BY CAMERAS

Threatens Scientific Strike

COPENHAGEN, (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, angered by the presence of photographers, nearly bolted the opening session of a scientific congress today at which he later was to demonstrate his mechanical heart.

He agreed to remain, however, after Dr. Hans Fischer, head of the Danish Biological Institute, obtained an agreement from the photographers to confine their pictures to group shots.

Dr. Fischer, president, called the International Congress of Experimental Cytology to order with 300 scientists present in the common hall of the Danish Parliament.

After brief addresses by two Nobel science prize winners—Dr. Alexis Carrell of New York, and Dr. August Krogh of Copenhagen—the delegates adjourned to meet later at the institute for the demonstration of the heart invented by Lindbergh and Dr. Carrel.

The mechanical heart, which was to be presented to the institute, after the demonstration, in recognition of the facilities it extended in preparation for the experiment.

After more than four years experimentation and study, Colonel Lindbergh and Dr. Carrell announced completion of their mechanical heart in June, 1935.

Hailed as a discovery in medical progress, it was described as an important contribution to allow scientists to observe the operation of live, vital organs in an artificial chamber.

One of the important features of the heart, it was said, was elimination of bacterial infection which previously had complicated the study of living organs removed from the body.

Ralph Flanagan of Miami each finished second in preliminary trials of 400 meter free style competition. Macionis trailed Hiroshi Negami of Japan and Flanagan was runner-up to another son of Nippon, Shozo Mankino.

A third Japanese ace, Shumpei Uto of Japan set a new Olympic record of 4:45.5 in winning his heat. Jack Medica of Seattle, clocked in 4:55.9, won his heat and qualified along with Macionis and Flanagan.

In diving, however, American prospects looked bright as Dick Digener of Detroit, Marshall Wayne of Miami and Al Greene of Chicago placed first, second and fourth at the end of the compulsory dives of the springboard event.

Mystery Disqualified

In water polo, the American team suffered its second defeat, bowing to Belgium, 4-3, and was eliminated from the competition.

Holland captured the monotype gold medal and Germany won Star class honors as the first two of four Olympic yachting divisions were decided. The six meter and eight meter champions await the result of tomorrow's races. The United States, the 1932 Olympic yachting champion, made its best showing in the Star class where William Waterhouse and Woodbridge Metcalf of California finished fifth.

The United States entry in the six meter class, "Mystery" of California, (Newport Harbor) was disqualified for touching the buoy in today's race and lost its last chance to overtake the leaders. The deciding race will be sailed tomorrow. Norway won today's race and went into a triple tie for the lead with Great Britain and Italy.

LEGION MEET OPENED BY PARADE

Most spectacular of the Legion's convention events, it was witnessed by a quarter of a million persons.

In the reviewing stand were Governor Frank F. Merriam, Mayor Frank L. Shaw, Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, Grand Marshal Brig.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold and other officials.

Twenty-five hundred official delegates got down to convention business this morning in a session called by Department Commander Dan Emmett at a reconstructed film studio sound stage.

Special matters up for consideration included adoption of the secret ballot plan of voting and nomination of 1936-37 department officers. Two leading candidates for commander were Carl Miles and Thomas Riordan, both of San Francisco. The auxiliary gathered under Mrs. Ethel R. Marsh, department president, at Hollywood High school.

The 40 et 8, Legion fun and honor organization, and the auxiliary's 8 et 40, finished their elections late last night.

rounding the community of Badajoz in an attempt to "mop up" on the march toward Madrid.

Gen. Miguel Cabanellas, president of the insurgent junta at Burgos, which announced the drive on Badajoz, promulgated a decree calling to the "colors" Spanish reservists of the classes of 1933, 1934 and 1935 to support the insurrection.

Britain Protests

The lifting of limitation on withdrawals from private bank accounts in the north central area of Spain by the rebels was interpreted by sympathizers with the Fascist movement as meaning that Burgos had overcome the financial difficulties which beset it at the start of the revolution.

The British government forwarded a protest to the insurgents over the death of a British subject, Capt. Rupert Savile, Slain by insurgent gunfire on his yacht in Gijon harbor.

The incident was regarded in diplomatic circles as a possible hindrance to complete and final consumation of a French-sponsored general European neutrality accord applying to the insurrection.

Government Claims

Between 30 and 40 Americans, mostly women and children, plan to leave the Spanish capital tonight for Valencia to board the United States cruiser Quincy for Marseille. Only about 100 Americans will be left in Madrid.

Reports circulated in Paris, that a personal friend of Premier Mussolini of Italy was going to Burgos for conferences with the provisional junta were without confirmation in the rebel stronghold itself.

Government claims covered: Repulse of a rebel attack at Navel-Peral, in the Guadarrama mountains, with 800 Fascists reported killed; capture of the town of Lugones and seizure of a munitions factory in Oviedo province; occupation of 10 towns in Teruel province during an advance on Zaragoza; surrender of the towns of Gelsa and Ola to a loyal column, also marching on Zaragoza, and capture of Ibiza, capital of an island of the same name in the Balearics.

"Immoral Conduct"

Miss Astor is suing to have declared void the divorce won last year by Dr. Thorpe, and to be given custody of their four-year-old daughter, Marylyn.

Dr. Thorpe has countered by charging his former wife with "gross immoral conduct."

The first questions put to the actress this morning in the crowded courtroom brought Roland Rich Woolley, her attorney, to his feet at once, shouting objections.

Thalberg In Case

Hollywood buzzed with rumors over the week-end that a settlement might be reached in the case in an effort to keep from public scrutiny the actress' diary, which Anderson has said contains the names of a number of prominent theatrical people.

Irving Thalberg, the producer, declared "I know less about this case than anyone in Hollywood" when asked concerning reports he and his actress - wife, Norma Shearer, were intervening to effect a truce.

Kaufman was on Thalberg's yacht off Santa Catalina Island when he was served the subpoena in the case.

BUDGET READY FOR HEARING

Details of the 1936-37 proposed Orange county budget were ready today for inspection by taxpayers in preparation for a public hearing Thursday, Aug. 20.

County Auditor W. T. Lambert this morning made available printed booklets listing last year's spending by departments and funds and the amount proposed for each department this year.

Of a total budget of $3,241,776, general county functions call for $2,312,460, the four road districts call for $61,491, and special districts call for $876,825.

Nearly half a million dollars remained unspent in the county general fund at the end of the fiscal year, the report shows. With $456,862 left over, and $783,009 anticipated in revenues, the county must raise 1,072,589 in taxes. On this figure is based an estimated tax rate of 62 cents inside cities.

The county's tax rate of 62 cents is the lowest ever set by any county in California in modern times, a study revealed today. Placer county last year had a tax rate of the same figure, as compared with 69 cents for Orange county.

Whether Placer county will lower its budget this year and be lower than Orange county has not been learned, but budget figures indicate Orange county will have one of the lowest tax rates in the state.

Two Face Drunk Driving Charges

John C. Walker, 30, National City insurance salesman, was jailed early yesterday by police, who charged him with drunk driving near Sixteenth and Main streets. He was later released on bail, to appear in court Aug. 24.

Mack Charez, 24, 1032 Logan street, was in the county jail today awaiting trial on drunk driving charges. He was arrested by police yesterday at Washington and Logan streets.

SCHOOL JOB TO BE DISCUSSED

Whether to reconstruct the auditorium of Edison school, and if so, how, are problems to be discussed by the Santa Ana Board of Education tonight.

Bids totaling $37,489 for construction of three units have been approved by the board and recommended to the Greene bill board. These call for four classrooms, a kitchen, nurses' room, and rest rooms.

On the theory that work can be done on the auditorium most economically in connection with the other work, Architect Frank Eley is preparing plans for $30,500 in additional construction, which would include the auditorium, principal's office, and two classrooms.

Whether this work can be financed at this time is one question the board must determine.

MANY AREAS SEEK DATA ON MWD

Danger of Drought Is Spurring Districts Toward Action

Not only the Orange County Water district, but cities and citrus areas from Ventura county to San Diego are considering inclusion in the Metropolitan Water district, it was revealed today by M. W. D. headquarters.

Made aware of the dangers of drought, the areas are seeking to protect property of assessed valuations totaling $2,000,000,000 and extending over 400,000 acres, according to inquiries filed with the board of directors of the district.

Three territories in Orange county were listed as inquiring about inclusion. They are the Orange County Water District, comprising 200,000 acres; the South Coast Water District, including the city of Laguna Beach; and the territory between Santa Ana and San Juan Capistrano, including El Toro and vicinity.

Supply Is Plentiful

Directors said there is assurance of a plentiful and unfailing supply of water for the 13 cities now in the district. The aqueduct is now in its fourth year of construction, with more than 8000 workmen on the job along a 300-mile front.

"Our people in the Metropolitan Water District know that we cannot gamble with drought," said Chairman W. P. Whitsett in commenting on the applications for information.

"Solemn Warning"

"We have seen how hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of crops and homes have been wiped out by just one season's drought in the Middle-West. It is a solemn warning to the whole country.

"Cities now in the water district have property values totaling $4,000,000,000. One season of water shortage that would cut down property values 10 per cent would cause us in one year a loss equal to twice the entire cost of our Colorado river aqueduct. That's why the cities in the district are anxious to see our aqueduct completed. It is mighty cheap insurance—and we need the water.

"There are many other rich sections of Southern California awakening to the necessity of securing additional water, and the only adequate source is the Colorado river. We hope they may be helped."

Others Ask Data

Other areas which have asked information include the east end of Ventura county; a foothill citrus area of 80,000 acres, including the cities of Glendora, Pomona, Ontario, Upland, San Dimas and La Verne; Hermosa Beach and vicinity, and San Diego and other communities on the San Diego county coastline.

Member cities outside Orange county are Beverly Hills, Burbank, Compton, Glendale, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Pasadena, San Marino, Santa Monica and Torrance.

A special committee of the district board of directors has been appointed to deal with the communities seeking information. Members are Franklin Thomas, vice president of the board and chairman of the committee; Victor H. Rossetti and John R. Richards of Los Angeles, S. H. Finley of Santa Ana and J. H. Ramboz of San Marino.

AWAITS TRIAL

Felix Banuelas, 36, Orange, was in the county jail today awaiting trial in Orange justice court on peace disturbance charges.

Ma Ferguson on California Trip

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—On the first California vacation of her life Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, former Texas governor, assumed the role of typical tourist today.

"I'm going to ride around, visit some of the motion picture studios and then go back home," she said.

She arrived yesterday, accompanied by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Watt.

DOPE EXPOSE TOLD OVER KVOE

Because four voluble bakers couldn't keep their minds on their bread dough and because they came, on a hunch, to the Chief of Police of the San Rafael police department and expostulated concerning their suspicions about "something that wasn't right," Chief Kane, acting on another hunch, began an investigation which led to the uncovering of two of the largest dope peddling rings in Pacific Coast history and more than $13,000 worth of opium and the customary accessories. This is the true story to be dramatized in tonight's "Calling All Cars!" broadcast to be made from KVOE beginning at 7:30, an interesting story and a tribute to police efficiency.

Charming Virginia Rea sings "Under the Greenwood Tree" tonight at 7 o'clock in the "Musical Moments" presentation.

Dave Rubinoff and his $100,000 Stradivarius will be heard in a special Rubinoff arrangement of "There Isn't Any Limit to My Love" and the orchestra will play the two new numbers: "Take My Heart" and "Too Bad."

KVOE PRESENTS DANCE TUNES

The rhythm presentation "Let's Dance," beginning at 8 o'clock tonight will bring the music of the Rhythm Makers and Billy Mozet to KVOE listeners and will offer, among other hit tunes of the day, "Let's Face the Music and Dance," from "Follow the Fleet," "Beautiful Lady in Blue," "Without the Shadow of a Doubt," and "Melody from the Sky."

"Sketches in Melody," starting at 8:30, will change the mood of the broadcast from light popular to that of the light classics as the Salon String Ensemble with Maurice Gunsky, baritone, present Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India," the Russian melody "Two Guitars," the old musical portrait, "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and Schubert's lovely "Serenade."

8:45 will bring the three "Aces of the Air" and Galla-Rini, master of the accordion, in a program of varieties entitled, "Say It With Music," to feature "The Flight of the Angels," "I'll See My Susan Tonight," "Montersano" and "Honey I'm in Love."

POLICE REPORTS

Police told H. Z. Hall, 2056½ South Main street, that his car had been found abandoned near Costa Mesa Saturday. Hall knew it already, however. He had run out of gasoline and left it there.

"Yaaa! Sunnymornin' peppah!" didn't amuse guests of a downtown hotel late Saturday night. They called police, who advised half a dozen newsboys to leave the corner and go home.

W. J. Richardson, 1232 West Eighth street, reported thieves had been busy in his corn patch, and asked officers to watch the premises.

The city's official face looked crestfallen today. Theft of a 1½-ton ratchet from a city truck, parked in the city yard, was being investigated by police.

A bicycle reported stolen by Arthur Wilson, 1150 West Eighth street, was located by police and returned to the owner's brother.

Saturday's police court traffic fines: Elmer Horton, parking, $1; Francisco Armendez, parking, $1; H. W. Brough, parking, $1; Guadalupe Garcia, speeding, $6; Harold E. Gorman, speeding, $6.

FACES CHECK CHARGE

MORE 'STRATO' HOPS PLANNED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Two airline executives, here on a $2,000,000 shopping expedition, disclosed today another $200,000 would be spent on experimental long-range flights through the sub-strathosphere.

Jack Frye, president, and John B. Walker, vice president in charge of traffic, of TWA, arrived from Kansas City to complete negotiations for buying 20 23-passenger transports from Douglas Aircraft.

"Faster and finer Coast-to-Coast service with these super transports will be inaugurated by Jan. 1," Frye declared.

"Long range flights in a specially-equipped laboratory plane from Los Angeles to New York will start next month in carrying out our substrathosphere experiments.

"We will fly the ship in every conceivable condition, with engineers aboard to record results looking toward daily operation in the strathosphere within the near future."

POLITICAL FUN TO BE HEARD

"Senator Hugo Fishing," whose "campaign speeches" always bring several laughs every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 6 p. m. on KVOE, will continue his befuddled clamor for votes this evening at the same hour when Ken Major, the boy from Missouri, brings him to the studio. Other gusts, or rather guests, may include "Lord Waterbottle" whose genius is almost overpowering, or "Zud Hicks," the lad who entered the studio last Friday with a pet hog.

Dancing rhythm will be the feature of tonight's "Rhythm of Healthy Feet" presentation at 7:15 to include the popular new tunes: "On the Beach at Bali Bali," "Summer Holiday," and new arrangements of the popular old favorites "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" and "Blue Is the Night Above Me."

FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASM

CITY LEAGUE PROTEST

It will be three weeks before grid toggery is issued, and another three weeks before a game is played, but conversation at the beaches, soda fountains and even at the softball contests already has turned to football.

The bleacher bugs are beginning to wonder about the prospects of the Saints and the Dons locally. The Los Angeles sheets have begun ballyhooing the Trojans and the Bruins.

Braven Dyer devoted 10 lines of Sunday's "The Sports Parade" to Miles Norton and Frank Kroener, tackle and end on Santa Ana Jaysee's Southland championship eleven of '33. Said Dyer: "There is news that Norton definitely plans to enroll at S. C. this fall. Norton had two brothers who attended Troy and one who went to California. He is far and away the family's best footballer. There is no denying much of Troy's contemplated success this fall will depend on the tackles, so Norton's coming is hailed with glee. Like the Trojans, U. C. L. A. gets a corking player from Santa Ana Jaysee in Kroener, an end who stands 6 ft. 4 in. The dope is that Frank will alternate with Bob Schroeder at right end."

* * *

The Saints and Dons will have their share of worries—but different worries. W. W. (Bill) Foote's preps will be moaning for more linemen; A. J. (Bill) Cook's junior collegians, for more backfield men.

Billy Musick, 185-pound fullback who can drive, and two halfbacks, Captain-elect Dwight Nott and Len Stafford, are among the dependable backs returning to the high school. They will form a fine nucleus.

Rated the best in the Eastern conference last fall, Santa Ana Jaysee's forward wall will return intact — Co-Captain Titensor, Greschner, Hendrie and Stanley, ends; Bolton, Devine and Pinkston, tackles; Craft, Rash and Connell, guards; Spray and Holmes, centers. Cook's problem will be to find capable backs. He has a few in Co-Captain Lehnhardt, outside halfback who probably will be shifted to quarter; Lamb and Herbert.

* * *

Rather than challenge the protest, and participate in a squabble that would create ill feeling, Manager Kenneth Miller of the Elks voluntarily forfeited a 10-5 victory over Joe's Grocery June 22, and agreed to replay the City league game if Larry Owens' outfit finished in the running.

The Grocers, who complained that questionable umpiring defeated them in the disputed game, accepted Miller's sporting proposition. Few expected Joe's to be in the running, but the Grocers came along remarkably with Armand Hanson, southpaw slinger, to finish in a first-place tie with the B. P. O. E.'s.

So the protested game will be replayed in the Municipal bowl at 8 o'clock tonight. Both have compiled enviable records, and the survivor of the extra feud will deserve and receive the honor of playing the Commercial National Bank's first-half champions for the 1936 title.

Games Tonight

Irvine at Brea.
San Juan Capistrano at Anaheim.
Placentia, bye.

With only Placentia maintaining a mathematical chance to overtake Irvine's win-crazy collection, the County Nightball league goes into its final round of competition tonight, Thursday and next Monday.

Irvine travels to play Virgil Kiger's Brea boys, currently tied for third with San Juan Capistrano and Anaheim, two teams that meet at Anaheim in the other game. Placentia draws a bye because of Huntington Beach's withdrawal.

Irvine must drop one of its next two games and then lose to Placentia Aug. 17 to sink into a tie for the second-half title. Ernie Laiger's club, with seven victories and no defeats, figures to ramble on to the 1936 championship unbeaten in the second half. Irvine won the first half so there will be no playoffs unless the club folds up within the next three games.

HANSEN AND MONOHAN ON PROGRAM

McArthur Tangles With Kondelis; Pico Draws Cox, a Newcomer

Filling his sixth consecutive main event at the Orange County Athletic club in as many weeks, Nick Lutze wrestles Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine in Promoter Sam Sampson's three-fall feature attraction of a four-event program tonight.

Cantonwine Tricky

A natural born grappler, who learned his wrestling in the "hot bed" of the sport—Iowa—and who gained his super strength from pitching hay and doing other farm chores, Cantonwine believes he will be able to trick Lutze into hanging himself to defeat, as hundreds of other topnotchers of the mat have done in the past.

Lutze, however, thinks otherwise. "I'm not as dumb as I look," said Lutze, "and I figure any man who would fall for such a dumb trick shouldn't be given a wrestler's license. Why, I'll have that guy, Cantonwine, hanging in his own noose."

The Cantonwine hangman maneuver is barred in many states and is regarded as extremely dangerous because a man is apt to be severely choked. Cantonwine has a trick of pulling his foe in, sidestepping and wrapping his opponent's head in the ropes. He is a master in its execution.

Lutze is determined to beat Cantonwine, pin Chief Little Wolf and then show fans that he is Vincent Lopez's master.

McArthur vs. Kondelis

The secondary feature may be a three-fall match also. Promoter Sampson will attempt to induce Jack McArthur and George Kondelis, principals in this affair, to travel the three-fall route tonight. They have agreed to a one-fall match, but Sampson wants them to make it the best two out of three, and believes that he can talk them into it.

Bill Hansen, regarded by many as one of the best bets in the game and a wrestler who may win the title within a year or two, meets Jerry Monohan and Juan Olaquival-Pico, the Basque-Mexican, challenges Myron Cox in the opener.

Cox is a newcomer here. He has been wrestling for the past seven years, having learned his trade from Nick Lutze when the pair were on the Venice life-guard force years ago. He may outwrestle the slugging Basque-Mexican.

U. S. ELIMINATED IN WATER POLO

BERLIN, (AP)—The United States team was eliminated from the Olympic water polo tournament today when it lost a hard-fought 4-to-3 decision to Belgium.

The Belgians led, 4-0, until midway through the second period when the Americans rallied in great style, Jim O'Connor of Venice, Calif., scoring one goal and Phil Daubenspeck, also from Venice, scoring two in quick succession. In the closing minutes of play the Americans kept the ball in front of the Belgians' goal most of the time and almost succeeded in scoring the tying goal several times.

CUBS REGAIN PUNCH, TAKE N. L. LEAD

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's the Cubs against the field again.

Charley Grimm's Chicago champs have regained their collective batting eye. They've taken over the National league lead once more. And, with their great pitching staff still the strongest in the loop, they are once again definitely the club to beat in the stretch drive.

Of course, the Giants and Cardinals can still do lots of damage, but the Giants collapsed once before after making a pass at the lead, and the Gas House gang still has just a one-man pitching staff.

The sudden return of the Cubs' batting punch over the week-end may not mean that they're finally out of their slump, but any outfit that can hammer out 56 hits in four games, as they have done since Friday, cannot be classed exactly as a pitcher's pushover.

Reds Trounce Cards

They wound up their week-end bombardment yesterday with a 29-hit assault against the Pirates to take both ends of a doubleheader, 10-1 and 9-2, and move back into the first place they gave up last week because of weak hitting.

The Cardinals were knocked out of the lead by a tremendous hitting attack on the part of the Cincinnati Reds, who fired 40 safe blows all over the lot to turn in a twin win, 10-2 and 12-5.

With the lead at stake, the Cubs and Cards clash today in the start of their second series in a week, but the Chicagoans are a considerably improved outfit at bat since they went down three out of four in the last meeting.

Yanks Double Winners

Maintaining their 11-game lead, the Yankees bowled over the Athletics twice, 7-6 in 10 innings, and 3-0. Lou Gehrig hit his 34th homer in the opener and drove in all Yankee runs in the nightcap with a triple with the bases loaded.

The Indians saved second place with a doubleheader triumph over the White Sox, 9-1 and 5-2.

Rus Van Atta pitched the Browns to a 4-3 win over the Tigers while the Red Sox took the only victory of their series with the Senators.

The Brooklyn Dodgers climbed out of the National league cellar for the first time in two months with a twin victory over the Bees, 4-0, and 5-2.

OWENS' FEATS APPROVED

BERLIN, (AP)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation congress, at its opening session today, approved 27 men's track and field performances, including Jesse Owens' four feats in the 1935 Big Ten championships at Ann Arbor, Mich.

These comprised his record-making broad jump of 26 feet 8¼ inches; 220-yard low hurdles in 22.6 seconds, 220-yard sprint in 20.3 seconds, and a record-equaling 9.4 for 100 yards. Jesse's 9.4 second performance at Chicago two months ago also was accepted.

Actually the Brown Buckeye gets his name added to the official records seven times inasmuch as his 200-yard dash and hurdles marks both are recognized as new standards for 200-meter distances.

All told, 16 of the marks approved today were contributed by Americans. The most impressive list ever added to the record books comprised 20, which wiped out previous standards as well as seven record-equaling exploits.

Portland Clings To Slim Lead

(By the Associated Press)

Portland held a precarious game-and-a-half lead in the Coast League today after a week-end which proved there are no more "soft touch" teams in the circuit.

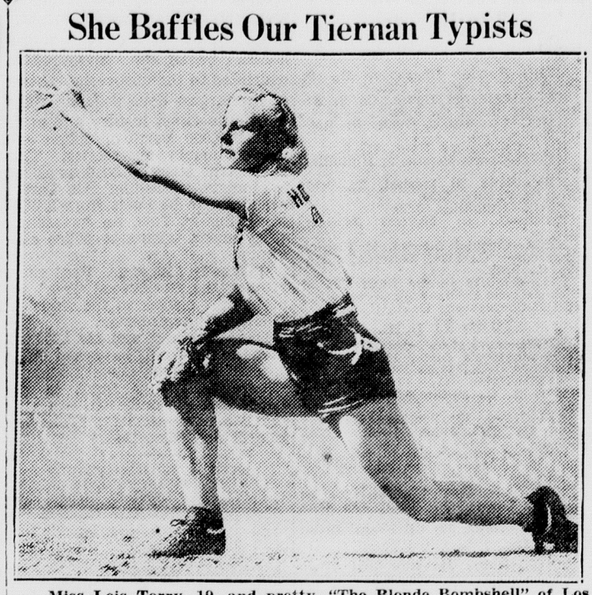

The erstwhile league-leading Seattle Indians took a double drubbing from San Francisco's Missions, 13-7, 7-5, while the pennant-hungry Beavers received a similar set-back from the San Diego Padres 4-1, 4-1.

Los Angeles' moribund Angels rose against Oakland and achieved another double triumph, 9-3, 7-1.

As a result, the Missions, Oaks and Padres were tied for third place, 3½ games behind the league leader, while sixth-place Los Angeles, not out of the running for the Shaughnessy plan playoff, were only eight games down from Portland.

She Baffles Our Tiernan Typists

Miss Lois Terry, 19, and pretty, "The Blonde Bombshell" of Los Angeles softball, is shown in one of her characteristic poses on the mound. She baffled the Tiernan Typists, champions of the Santa Ana Girls' league, 12 to 4, here Saturday night.

Lois Terry Downs Tiernan's, 12-4

Bewildered by the expert pitching of Miss Lois Terry, "The Blonde Bombshell," in a 12-4 defeat from Max Factor's Hollywood Girls here Saturday night, Santa Ana's champion Tiernan Typists will face milder competition this week.

Head Coach Ben (Bomo) Koral will escort his club to Laguna Beach Wednesday night to play the "Lionettes," sponsored by the Laguna Beach Lions club.

Thursday night the Smith-Coronas of Santa Ana will join the Tiernan Typists in a steak bake prepared by W. K. Duffy, Elks' club chef, at Irvine park.

Following the brush with Laguna Beach the Tiernan champions will play in Los Angeles, and then again at the Municipal Bowl against the Long Beach Sorority in tuning up for the Southern California tournament in Los Angeles.

Miss Bobbie Wakeham of the Santa Anans pitched fine ball here Saturday, but the Koral Amazons were victims of "stage fright" in the second inning, with the Hollywood girls capitalizing on a flock of errors and three walks to stimulate a nine-run rally.

Miss Terry was invincible. The southpaw slinger, who has averaged 10 strike-outs a game for two seasons and in one contest fanned 18 batters in Los Angeles, limited Tiernan's to three hits while toiling seven innings. She struck out nine. Santa Ana scored on a relief pitcher in the final two innings.

Despite cloudy weather, a good crowd attended. There were 370 paid admissions.

TIERNAN'S AND MAIN CAFE TOP COUNTY GOLF LOOP

The R. A. Tiernan Typewriter company of Santa Ana increased its lead in Class A but relinquished its Class B command to the Main cafeteria in Orange County league golf yesterday.

The revised standings:

Class A—Tiernan Typewriter company, 9½; Willowick golf course, 7½; R. H. Ewert jewelers, 7½; Pomroy's Service, 7; Scottie's Malt Shop, 6; Huntington Beach News, 5; Windsor club, 4; Meadowlark golf course, 1.

Class B—Main cafeteria, 11½; Willowick golf course, 7½; Windsor club, 6½; Tiernan Typewriter company, 6; Huntington Beach News, 4½; Harbor Service Laundry, 4; ABC company, 2; Meadowlark golf course, 0.

Sunday's results:

Class A—R. H. Ewert jewelers (5½) def. Meadowlark (½); R. A. Tiernan company (4) def. Huntington Beach News (2); Willowick (3 tied Pomroy's Service (3); Windsor club (3) tied Scotties' Malt shop (3).

Class B—Main cafeteria (6) def. Tiernan's (0); Harbor Service Laundry (4) def. ABC company (2); Willowick (6) def. Meadowlark (0); Huntington Beach News (4) def. Windsor club (2).

Wrestling and Pentathlon Honors Added By America

BERLIN, (AP)—America's Olympians, with another men's track and field title safely tucked away, moved hopefully along widely scattered athletic fronts today, while the Japanese marathon victor, Kitei Son, was acclaimed for the greatest distance running finish the games ever have witnessed.

Passing the half way mark in the most "colossal" Olympiad ever conducted, Americans safely defended the free style wrestling team honors as well as the track title and won an unexpected team victory in the gruelling modern pentathlon with a trio of army officers.

The Japanese, who were considered a sure thing to retain the men's aquatic title, tasted their first upset in the 100 meter free style when Ferenec Csik of Hungary won in 57.6.

Masanori Yusa and Shigeo Arai of Japan finished second and third and Peter Fick of New York and Art Lindegren of Los Angeles sixth and seventh.

America qualified two girls in the 100 meters free style event, Katherine Rawls, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Olive McKean, Seattle.

Rita Masterbroek of Holland and Janet Campbell of the Argentine dominated the event in the semi-finals yesterday. Bernice Lapp of Newark was fourth in her heat and was eliminated.

The United States emerged with the highest honors in the blue ribbon Olympic sport since the games at Stockholm in 1912.

Negro competitors contributed six individual titles to America's 12 track firsts, besides helping to account for a seventh in the 400 meters relay. Jesse Owens, including his part in the sprint relay, became the first American to collect four gold medals since 1900, besides duplicating Paavo Nurmi's 1924 achievement.

Tonight's Finale

8 o'clock—Elks vs. Joe's Grocery.

Elks or Joe's Grocery?

These top-flight softball artists, with only one defeat marring their records in seven games, battle under the blazing mazdas of the Municipal bowl at 8 o'clock tonight for the second-half championship of the Santa Ana City league.

The survivor qualifies for a three-out-of-five game playoffs with the Commercial National Bank, first-half champion, for the 1936 title and the privilege of entering the Southern California tournament next month.

Bob Wimbush of Knights of Columbus has been signed by the B. P. O. E.'s to replace Darwin Scott, who will be unavailable at third base, Manager Miller said.

Larry Owens' Grocers, whose offense has averaged approximately seven runs per game while Pitcher Armand Hanson, a baffling lefthander, has held the opposition to 18, have been the surprise package of the second half. The comeback of the 1935 champion Elks, who have scored 49 runs in seven games, has been just as remarkable, however.

JOE'S GROCERY

Joe's must rely on Hanson to carry the pitching burden, but the B. P. O. E.'s have a staff of four hurlers—Gil Yorba, Ellwood Lindley, Joe Cornelius and Larry Cannon—ready for duty. Kenneth Miller, manager, plans to work Yorba and Lindley, but says he will stake his chances on Cornelius if the lodge boys gain the playoffs.

The championship series with Harold Finley's Commercial Nationals will open Thursday night and close when one club has annexed three games on a Monday-Thursday schedule, President Kenneth Morrison said.

Dogged by Illness

NEGRO GREAT TO CASH IN ON RECORD

Ohio Sensation to Bolt Amateurs For Chance to Earn $100,000

BERLIN, (AP)—Jesse Owens, with the approval of Larry Snyder, his coach at Ohio State, announced today he would turn professional after completing a post Olympic tour, provided sufficient financial inducements are forthcoming.

Already besieged with offers, including a contract offering a 10-weeks' personal appearance tour with a California orchestra, the winner of four Olympic gold medals frankly decided to cash in on his record and close his amateur career, despite the fact he has one more year's college eligibility.

Snyder, who coached Owens through his record-smashing Olympic exploits and rates the negro as the greatest track athlete of all time, is advising Jesse carefully, however, before he makes the professional move.

May Earn $100,000

"It would be foolish for me to stand in Jesse's way," Snyder said. "He's absolutely at the height of his fame now. Nothing that he could do in his remaining year of college competition would lift him to a higher peak in the athletic world than he now enjoys.

"Under the circumstances, I believe he is justified in accepting offers to turn professional as long as they are the right kind. He has a good chance to make $75,000 to $100,000. I'd be glad to see him do it."

Snyder and Owens are doubtful about accepting any offers before returning to the United States late in September after touring Europe with members of the U. S. Olympic team.

Jesse is slated to compete in Cologne tonight, Praha Tuesday, Bochum Wednesday and in the British Empire-United States meet in London Saturday. He then will barnstorm Sweden and several other countries.

Snyder expressed regret over the prospect of wrecking next year's Ohio State track team of which Jesse has been the mainstay for two undefeated seasons.

Amazing Record

Owens' Olympic peak in which he cracked the Olympic 200 meters and the broad jump marks, equalled the 100 meters and paced the record-breaking 400 meters relay team, is the best all-around exhibition he has given since the 1935 Big Ten championships when he broke three world marks and equalled a fourth.

Owens revealed the West offer involved an aggregate of $25,000 for 10 weeks. Before leaving for Cologne, he said:

"I'm anxious to finish my college course, but I can't afford to miss this chance if it really means big money. I can always go back and get a degree.

"It would mean giving up my future athletic career but I have had a fair share of track and field honors and feel I could hang up my spikes without any serious regrets."

GOLF FINALS DUE SUNDAY

The Santa Ana Country Club's two tournaments, the President's cup for women and the father-and-son, will go into the finals this week.

Mrs. R. V. Weston will play Mrs. Jack Colburn for the right to match strokes with Miss Lolita Mead for the President's cup trophy. Playing under handicap rules, Miss Mead, with an 89, defeated Mrs. Harry Bakre, with an 88, 1 up on the 19th hole yesterday.

L. R. Kennedy and Don will meet J. W. Taylor and Kemper for the right to enter the father-and-son finals with C. W. Jordan and Bill, who eliminated J. C. Burke and Russell in the semi-finals.

Saturday's best ball sweepstakes: Ben Manker and M. N. Thompson, 68-6-62; William Rohrbacker and R. C. Cartwright, 76-12-64; Dean Campbell and Mickey Walker, 75-10-65; Ed Holmes and Bob Fernandez, 76-9-67.

Defeated flight of President's cup—Mrs. N. W. Miller def. B. W. McClure, Mrs. R. G. Cartwright d. Mrs. C. H. Chapman, Mrs. Roy Langley d. Mrs. L. J. Bushard, Miss Nan Mead d. Mrs. E. H. Guthier.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SATURDAY is a dull day in the newspaper busines. One sits around wondering what to do, and how to get out of doing it.

And day before yesterday wasn't any exception, until Tommy Bouchey, harbormaster at Newport-Balboa, called.

I'd been wondering how to get out of taking care of a basketfull of routine work when Tommy asked why I didn't come on down and see the windup of the yacht races. You can guess the answer.

And so, after considerable maneuvering to get out from under City Editor Roch Bradshaw, who was envious, we boarded Tommy's speedboat, to see the finish of the regatta, which has been going on for nigh onto a week in the ocean off Newport.

* * *

Tommy explained that the ocean might be on the roughish side, because of the wind. Wouldn't be had, he added, and then passed around slickers, just to destroy the editorial confidence. Which it did.

Outside the jetties, fair-sized breakers made traveling, to me, very interesting. Tommy, as pilot, set his teeth, pulled down the throttle, and tried to hang on. So did I. And so did Harold Caldwell, Tommy's assistant, who had sense enough to stand up in the boat's back seat, thereby absorbing many of the shocks which a fast speedboat gives one when pounding the waves.

Immediately after we started, I began wishing I'd been standing up, too. (I have to, today.) A person sails along, not sitting on anything, for quite a while, and then suddenly lands with a thump—a real big thump, one that shakes teeth and loosens hair. The forced landing sends you back up in the air, and then you land with another thump—this goes on and on and on. See why I'm standing today?

* * *

Anyway, we finally arrived at one end of the racing course. Where Stars were rounding a buoy, preparatory to sailing with the wind to the Balboa pier. Just as we shut off the gas and stopped, three pilots tried to round that buoy at the same time, and the result was almost terrifying. One pilot finally sneaked in ahead of the other two. The sails leaned over until they almost touched the water. Everyone hung on. The frail craft skidded a bit and finally came about (nautical!) and was on her way.

The others arrived at the same moment. One pilot apparently headed straight for the other. Both veered away from the marker, and then the brover of the two swung around ahead of his opponent, laid his boat over on her side, and barely skidded around, thus gaining several yards on the man behind him. It looked like fun, although awfully wearing on the nerves.

We watched that sort of thing for a time, and then decided to run in by the Balboa pier and watch "Hook" Beardsley finish. We crept along, because one either goes full speed ahead or slowly in the speedboat, and finally arrived just as Hook was rounding the last buoy and preparing to finish and win his fifth straight race in the series.

Hook brought his "By-C" around like he was carrying a dozen eggs in one hand and a cup of coffee in the other. He roared toward the starting line, almost straight into the wind, made one last short tack, and sailed across, a winner by more than seven minutes over the following craft.

* * *

* * *

Incidentally, "Robby" Robison, elongated yachting magazine publisher, was one of the busiest men on the judges' boat. He was scribbling every minute, as the Stars and "PC's" and other racers sailed by. I wanted to ask Robby about a reported ducking in the bay, in which several well known haborites officiated, as he was said to have been heaved, more or less unceremoniously, into the cold water, but he was too far away for any questioning, but I'll get that story yet!

* * *

After watching the racers cross the line, we roared back into the harbor, Tommy telling about how this regatta was one of the most orderly they've ever had at the beach. Hundreds of visiting yachts—well, more than 100, anyway, and no drastic infractions of the harbor rules. Everyone wanted to help out in every way possible, and all the visitors cooperated with the harbormaster's department. Which is quite something!

* * *

So we went speedboat riding in rough water, and Hook Beardsley won his series and I have a black-and-blue back from the bouncing around. Actually, black-and-blue! Private showing on request!

DIES AFTER FALL

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Miss Esther Thompson, 23, who fell 75 feet from the roof of Burbank Junior High school, died Sunday.

COUNTY BUILDING FIGURES LEAP

FULLERTON IN FIVE-FOLD INCREASE

Seal Beach Shows Gain As Other Communities in Upward Swing

Heralding an amazing increase in building activities in Orange county, building figures compiled in leading communities for the first seven months of 1936 today showed a startling rise over the same number of months in 1935, led by Fullerton, Seal Beach, Laguna and Newport Beaches.

At Fullerton, totals for the first seven months this year were $535,728, as compared to $95,125, according to Buildnig Inspector Grover L. Walters, who said that a steady home building program and permits for two school buildings were responsible for the huge increase. July, 1935, however, topped the same month this year, he added, with $26,098 in permits issued in 1925 and $11,330 this year.

Seal Beach Gains

Seal Beach also showed an amazing increase, due to the huge community building program recently instituted there. Permits for the first seven months of this year totalley $31,278, as compared to $5,802 for the same period last year totalled $31,278, as compared month in 1935 by $10,912 as against $1,175, it was announced.

Building at Newport was booming, with permits this year reaching a figure of $498,331, as compared to $395,515 last year. Permits for July, 1936, were $61,159, and in the same month in 1935 totalled $35,975. This remarkable figure was due almost totally to home building, city officials said.

Anaheim Figures Up

Anaheim also showed a huge gain, with $229,126 recorded this year as against $105,349 for the the same period in 1935.

In Orange, 1936 totals topped last year as officials reported a total of $139,343 for this year and $40,910 for the first seven months of 1935. Huntington Beach and Santa Ana both dropped slightly behind last year's figures, with the beach community recording $36,747 up to July 1, 1936 and $56,036 for the previous year; in Santa Ana the 1935 total was $715,034 as against $537,620 this year.

LAGUNA STILL GAINS

LAGUNA BEACH.—Ninty-nine new homes have been built in Laguna Beach since Jan. 1.

This startling announcement was made today by Building Inspector Floyd W. Case, who said that the total established a new all-time building record for Laguna. In addition, he estimated that close to 60 new homes have been erected in the South Laguna and Emerald Bay residential districts, records of which are filed with the county building inspector.

Since the first day of the current month, the building total for the year in Laguna reached $493,380, less than $7000 below the half-million dollar mark, Case said.

Permits issued this month, aggregating $12,300, are as follows: Henry Alten, 1085 Gaviota street, dwelling, $2000; Mrs. C. H. Web-Pearl street, dwelling, $2000; W. Murray, 363 Pearl street, dwelling, $2000; L. H. Comer, 279 Thalia street, alterations and repairs to dwelling, $0000; Mrs. C. H. Webber, 947 Coast boulevard, South, addiiton and alterations to building, $1500; J. B. Andrews, 236 Coast boulevard, North, addition to structure, $500; Winona K. Houston, 1270 Temple terrace, addition and alterations, $800; Augusta Peterson, 208 Cliff drive, alterations to dwelling, $500.

Supper Honors Orange Couple

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ulrich were honored at a farewell dinner given Sunday evening at the Rossmore Hotel, Los Angeles, by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chilotte, Anaheim. Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich left later by train for a month's visit with relatives in Wisconsin.

In their absence their ranch home on East Collins avenue, will be occupied by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Ulrich. Other guests at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Warner Walters, Anaheim and Mr. and Mrs. Oswald C. Ulrich.

Rev. Pearson on Vacation Trip

ORANGE—The Rev. M. L. Pearson and Mrs. Pearson left today for a seven weeks motor trip which will take them to Spokane, Lake Louise, Banff, Calgary and Alberta, Canada. They will return by way of the Yellowstone National park and Sacramento. The Rev. Mr. Pearson is pastor emeritus of the First Presbyterian church.

Orange Class Has Special Program

ORANGE.—A special program was given Sunday morning in the high school department of the Methodist Sunday school. Miss Faye Stinson, teacher in a Los Angeles school of expression, gave several special readings. Miss Eleanore Kolkhorst sang a solo and Janice and June Winget sang a duet

Westminster School Cost Is Set at $30,575

WESTMINSTER. — The 1936-37 elementary school budget was adopted without change at an open meeting held by the district board of trustees at the Westminster school Friday evening. The total fund requirement for the district which includes the Westminster and Hoover schools will be $30,575.

The district tax requirement amount to $5942, the balance coming from the state and $2100 will be paid to the board of public building reconstruction. The largest item on the budget, $17,675, is for instruction, the remainder will be used for administration, operation, library, maintenance, auxiliary agencies and undistributed reserve.

APPROVE GROVE SCHOOL FUND

GARDEN GROVE.—Trustees of the Garden Grove Union High school district met Friday evening and adopted a budget of $67,663 as the total fund required to operate the school for the year ending June 30, 1937. No objections were offered on the proposed expenditures.

Of this sum $24,013 will be raised by district tax, with the remainder coming from the state. The proposed expenditures include as administration costs, $5470; salaries, $34,784; other instructional expense, $3650; library, $1900; operation of plant, $8600; maintenance of plant, $1600; auxiliary agencies, $3200; undistributed reserve, $3000; special expense charges, $250; capital outlay, $650, and payments to board of public building reconstruction, $2012. The remainder amounting to $2547 will be paid on outstanding obligations as of July 1, 1936.

Other business considered by the board was appointing of Ray Munz, former school bus driver, who recently received his teaching degree to a position on the faculty, his time to be divided equally between regular teaching and coaching.

TUSTIN W.C.T.U. TO ELECT

TUSTIN.—The regular meeting of the Tustin W. C. T. U. will be held at 2 p. m., Friday at the home of Mrs. B. F. Beswick, B street, according to announcement made today by the president, Mrs. C. E. Utt.

Annual election of officers will be held. The nominating committee consists of Mrs. Geneva Whitney, Elizabeth Miller and Mary Greenwood. Annual reports will be presented by the various chairmen. Plans will be made for the annual County W. C. T. U. convention to be held this fall in Tustin.

Refreshments will be served during the social hour following the business session. All members and friends of the Union have been invited.

OIL POLLUTION FIGHT SLATED

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — The state division of fish and game will have further aid from the Coast Guard in battling pollution of ocean waters from oil and other sources, it was learned here today.

Herbert C. Davis, executive officer of the commission, announced that a Coast Guard cutter and crew has been placed at disposal of the commission to aid in the pollution work. Lieut.-Commander C. W. Thomas, guard official, was instrumental in obtaining aid for the state forces, it was announced.

Work of both units of government consists mainly in halting pollution from ships far at sea and tracing undersea oil seepage.

Orange Group Has Dance

A dancing party was given Saturday night with Tom Powell, David Welsh and Bob Baines as hosts, to members of the H. A. M. club, at the Powell home on South Pepper street. Besides dancing and games, an exhibition of magic was given by Bob Baines.

Guests were Margaret Maroney, Helen Haines, Mabel Willis, Helen Talbert, Ruth Ehlen, Stella Christ, Richard McClelland, Bob Clifford, Wayne Smith and Carl Christ.

Lifeguards Catch Shark in New Swimming Sport

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A shark that almost caught a fisherman before lifeguards came to the rescue caused great excitement among visitors to the municipal pier here Saturday.

The hungry fish succeeded in pulling an angler's pole from his grasp. He shouted for assistance, and four lifeguards dove from the pier and took out after the voracious shark. They took turns racing after their quarry, until the relay swimming finally wore him out.

The result of the strange chase was a 30-pound shark captured and the angler's outfit returned to him. Guards taking part in the race were Bud Higgins, Ben Horbeke, Hasson and Harding.

NAME EMMONS ART LEADER

LAGUNA BEACH. — George Emmons, retired Pasadena capitalist, maintaining a summer home here, was elected president of the Long Beach Art association at the annual meeting Saturday night at the galleries. He succeeds George K. Brandriff, Laguna artist, who at the same time completed two terms in office.

Other officers elected were Miss Virginia Woolley, first vice president; Roy M. Ropp, second vice president; Miss Maud Robertson, treasurer; Ralston Vollmer, secretary; Ted Cook, Helen Smith, Tom Craig and William A. Griffith, directors. The nominating committee was headed by Mrs. Theodosia Ingham Gould.

Reflecting much credit on the retiring president's administration were various reports dealing with finances, membership growth and artistic achievements.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of a check for $900 by Frank D. Hevener, president of the Festival of Arts association. This donation, coming from proceeds of the recent festival, is to be applied toward paying off the $5000 mortgage against the art gallery. This donation, it was announced, will be matched by another, generously offered by James Irvine.

A recent membership drive, conducted by prominent Orange county clubwomen and art patrons, added $800 to the coffers of the art association, thus making a total of $2600 available for reducing the mortgage.

1500 HEAR H. B. PENSION TALK

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Harry R. Sheppard, Yucaipa, Democratic congressional candidate, addressed 1500 Townsend club supporters at a picnic and get-together on the beach here yesterday.

Robert B. Hoamer, president of Huntington Beach club No. 1, was chairman of the program, assisted by City Clerk Charles R. Furr. Mayor Willis R. Warner officially welcomed the throng to the community. Short talks were also given by the Rev. S. L. Wingert and Judge M. C. Summers.

The Rainbow sextet from the Christian church furnished music, directed by Mrs. Amy Worthy. Members were Virginia George, Doris Archibald, Evelyn Pate, Mildred Murdy, Alberta McManus and Helen Axton. The Huntington Beach municipal band, directed by John Peterson, also appeared.

FIRE MENACES ORANGE BLOCK

ORANGE.—Instant action on the part of the Orange fire department is thought to have saved this community from serious loss in a blaze which destroyed the G. W. Daniel market, 122 North Glassell street at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Strenuous efforts on the part of fire fighters is believed to have saved the entire business block from destruction, it was reported, as the store was badly damaged from the blaze. Loss will probably reach a figure of $10,000, firemen estimated today.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined, although firemen believe that refrigeration equipment may have been responsible for the fire.

TOWNSENDITES CHANGE DATE

WESTMINSTER.—A Townsend club meeting, scheduled for Thursday evening, has been changed to Friday evening, Aug. 14, according to an announcement made today by C. C. Murdy, president of the local club.

J. H. Walsh, Coasta Mesa, who represented the clubs of Oceanview, Westminster, Garden Grove and Costa Mesa at the recent national convention in Cleveland, is slated to report on the meeting.

Orange Family On Vacation

ORANGE.—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watson, their daughter, Eldene, and Mrs. Grace Hiatt, mother of Mrs. Watson, left Saturday for their cottage at Lake Arrowhead, where they will spend a week's vacation. Miss Watson is secretary to C. I. Thomas, superintendent of elementary schools.

SCHOOL COST IS $143,141 AT ORANGE

ORANGE. — The high school board of education held an open hearing on the budget Friday night, with no protests filed. The budget, as adopted, totalled $143,141, about $5000 more than last year.

No increase in taxes is indicated however, as a 10 per cent increase in attendance at the school has forced the state to make a larger allowance to the district. The tax remains at 42 cents per $100 valuation.

C. R. Nichols, Orange, was awarded a contract for transporting students from Silverado and Modjeska. A water heater was purchased for the girls' shower room, and various other small articles were ordered for use in the gymnasium and stadium. L. W. Evans presided at the meeting.

LAGUNA COAST GROUP ELECTS

LAGUNA BEACH.—William C. Watkins, prominent Orange county property owner, residing in Santa Ana and also maintaining a summer home at Coast Royal, was elected president of the South Coast Improvement association, at the annual meeting Saturday evening at the Three Arch bay recreational courts.

Miss Ann Johnson was named first vice-president and Dr. Carl Sumner Knopf was given the office of second vice-president. Mrs. Margaret W. Fiegel was re-elected secretary and Milton C. Royer was named treasurer. Elected to the executive committee, to serve with the new officers, were Harry Spear and R. W. Rowlands.

Mr. Watkins, the new president, succeeds Capt. George A. Portus, the latter, as past president, retaining a seat on the executive committee. The new executive has been an active worker in the organization and two years ago served as chairman of the garden section.

SET BUDGET AT OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW.—The elementary school district board of trustees adopted the school budget for the fiscal year at an open meeting held in the school building recently. The total budgeted expenditures will be $26,425, with $12,199 to be raised by district tax and the remainder coming from the state funds.

The largest item on the budget, $16,150, is for salaries and instructional expense, other items covered are maintenance, operation, library, and auxiliary agencies.

Dog Attacks Laguna Woman

LAGUNA BEACH. — Included among several new cases of dog-bite reported to the health and the police authorities, was that of Mrs. F. J. Soule, 1860 Glenneyre street, who was set upon and seriously bitten by a police dog Saturday evening.

Mrs. Soule was taken to the Laguna Beach hospital where she was treated by Dr. B. B. Mason. The dog, according to Chief of Police Abe Johnson, belongs to Mrs. Brooks Fiske, 2020 Glenneyre street. The animal was placed in quarantine by police.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Chapter 27

A great deal of business was done in Fenton's Stores on Saturday. The busy time had hardly started yet, and Hylton was the only customer in the shop. John Fenton's eyes took an uneasy look when he saw who had come in.

"Anything I can do for you, sir?" he asked.

"I want a word with you, Mr. Fenton, in the back room will be best, won't it?"

"Just as you like, sir."

Hylton followed the storekeeper into the small living room at the back so perfect in the unhygienic hideousness of its smug Victorianism that one felt it could have been matched only by a deliberately, and rather cruelly, designed stage set.

"Mrs. Fenton in?" he asked.

John Fenton hesitated, if ever a man's expression pleaded for life not to badger him any further his did at that moment. "Well, sir, I suppose she's somewhere round at the back," he said at length.

"Ask her to step in, would you?"

Fenton went to the door, poked his head into the passage and called "Mother."

Mary Fenton was busy in the kitchen.

"Coming John," she called in the very words and tone with which she had answered him for thirty years. The rustle of her black dress could be heard in the passage, and she entered the living room. Her eyes went at once to the Inspector and all the color drained from her face. John Fenton crossed over to her and he took her hand, patting it kindly. "Now, Mother, don't take on," he begged. "This gentleman wants to ask us a few questions I expect."

"I do, though I hadn't said so," Hylton smiled.

Mary Fenton sank into one of the worn, red-plush chairs and nodded.

"What was it you were wanting to know, sir?" John asked.

"Not a great deal. Did Mrs. Fenton have her hair done in the Luxor saloon in Morechester on last Monday afternoon?"

"Yes I did, sir," Mary answered. "Good. And did you have an appointment card to remind you of the time you were to go there?"

"Oh, yes, they always give you that when you book the time."

Hylton produced his notebook. "Is this the card?"

"Where are my glasses, John dear?" John knew where her glasses were, he should have done if habit counts for anything. Mary put them on with fingers that could not help trembling and John heartened her with his hand on one shoulder.

"That's better," Mary said, inspecting the appointment card once more. "Yes, I suppose this is it; it says Monday at 2:30, doesn't it?"

"Now Mrs. Fenton, that card was found outside one of the windows at Enderton Court—how did it get there?"

"Oh."

Mary Fenton grasped John's comforting hand with her own; when she spoke it was in a controlled and purposeful voice.

"Mr. Burdett was a hard man, sir. He never thought of anything but money."

Hylton nodded. "Go on."

"John, you tell the gentleman about the shop and all."

The Inspector listened to the history of Fentou's Stores—a dream of thirty years duration, a story of five minutes telling.

"That was how it stood, sir, Mr. Burdett wouldn't listen to anything but the money; and it wasn't as though he needed it all that badly; I told him it meant the end of Fenton's Stores if he let the Coastal people rent next door, and he didn't care if it did."

"That's what I couldn't stand," Mary broke in, "when I saw him that Monday in the Square I thought: 'it isn't right of God to let things be like that,' oh I felt awful about it."

"My dear, my dear."

"It's all right now, John, I can tell the gentleman everything now, I thought about the thing all day Monday. And after a bit I began to think perhaps it couldn't really be so bad. I thought surely Mr. Burdett couldn't do what he threatened if he really understood what it meant. John wouldn't go and see him any more, he said he had done his best and it was no good."

"So I suddenly thought I'd go up to the Court myself. On Monday Mr. Steeble always has a women's service at a quarter to eight, so I set off as usual at half past seven, and of course John thought he knew where I was going; but I never went near St. Leonard's, I went straight up to the Court. I went up the back way because that's the nearest for us—"

"What time did you get there, Mrs. Fenton?"

"It was eight o'clock sir, as I rank the bell; I heard St. Leonard's strike, and I thought what Mr. Steeble would be thinking about me not being there."

"What happened when you rang the bell?"

"Nothing, sir. I rang and rang and nobody came. Well, I wasn't going to be beaten, sir, and I walked round to the side of the house. There was a light showing in a window. Knowing what he was, I thought the light would never be burning unless he was there, so I thought I'd tap the pane and attract his attention that way."

"And did you?"

"No, sir, I got right up to the window just going to tap it, and there was a bit of a crack between the curtains and I could see right into the room—"

"Well?" Hylton prompted gently.

"Well, sir, I saw him dead, across the table and his head all—all like it was; only a foot or two away it seemed."

"You never went into the house?"

"That I didn't sir. I was so upset I dropped my bag outside the window and had a business to get it again. I was particular careful when I got back here to see if I had lost anything, but I never thought of that appointment card."

"Why didn't you tell somebody about it," Mrs. Fenton.

"Well, sir, I was very upset in the first place about going to speak to Mr. Burdett without a word to Mr. Fenton, and then what I saw there put me out altogether, as I think you will understand. Next morning, of course, it was all over the village and I thought I'd do best by not saying anything."

Hylton nodded; he was genuinely relieved to find that this old couple were not criminally involved in the affair.

He rose to go; he didn't think there would be any more fish to catch in this pool.

"Now, Mrs. Fenton," he said kindly but quite firmly, "you were very foolish not to go straight away to the Sergeant and tell him all you've told me—"

"I'm sure I was, sir," Mary sobbed.

"But better late than never, so don't worry any more—"

"It's all right then, sir, is it? I shan't be taken up for being an accessory after the fact or whatever they call it, shall I?"

"Good Lord no. The Law's there to help lawabiding people like you, you know. One thing I do want you to help me in though—"

"What's that sir? I'm sure I'll do anything I can."

"You're quite sure about the time when you rang the bell at the Court?"

"Oh, I'm sure of that sir. I heard St. Leonard's striking the hour as plain as plain, and I thought I ought to be sitting in church listening to Mr. Steeble instead of being where I was. Oh I'm sure of that."

"Right. Now, not a word about this to anybody else and—"

Ping!

"—and there's someone in the shop," Hylton concluded with a kindly smile, "so just let me out the back way and don't worry."

The Inspector walked straight from Fenton's Stores as fast as his long legs would take him towards Fielden Cottage, thinking furiously all the time. He did not grudge the time spent in listening to Mary Fenton's somewhat verbose explanation, for one vitally important fact had been established by it. Arthur Burdett was dead at eight o'clock. Lumsdade could not have reached the Court in time to do the murder. Hylton looked forward eagerly to his interview with Dale Shipley.

Nor could he resist a smile at his own espense. Clue after clue melted under his fingers—it was almost as if his duty suddenly had become to absolve rather than to convict.

COAST GUARD SPEEDS AID TO NORTH

100 Tons of Food Sent to Starving Eskimos on Arctic Rim

JUNEAU, Alaska, (AP)—A U. S. Coast Guard cutter and a Bureau of Indian Affairs official sped for Arctic regions today to investigate reports of starving Eskimos, some of whom were eating their sled dogs.

The cutter Northland was three days out of Nome for Barrow, farthest north Alaskan settlement, on an emergency cruise ordered by the U. S. Coast Guard at Washington, D. C., to aid in the crisis along the Arctic rim.

Charles W. Bawkesworth, assistant director of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, was aboard the motorship North Star for Nome where he will meet the steamer Derblay from Seattle loaded with 100 tons of flour and canned goods for Eskimos.

At Nome the supplies will be transferred from the Derblay to the North Star for the North.

First reports of Eskimos starving were received at the territorial governor's office from Capt. C. D. Pederson, veteran Arctic trader, who said natives on Barter and Herschell Islands were destitute and without food as their reindeer were dying because of a shortage of forage moss. He also said many deer had been killed by wolves.

At Barrow, Dr. Henry W. Griest, Presbyterian medical missionary, said Eskimos east of there were beginning to eat their sled dogs.

Dr. Greist said one native family killed and ate their sled dogs "skin and all" one by one.

Warehouses along the rim were reported empty.

Particular apprehension was felt for 500 Eskimos who live in the region east of Barrow. About one-third of the population is children.

F. D. R. THANKS LABORITES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt told labor's non-partisan league today he was condifent future history would show as it had in the past, that "a return to reactionary practices is ever short-lived."

In a letter which George L. Berry, president of the league, read at the league's first national convention, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"During the past three years we have endeavored to correct through legislation certain of the evils in our economic system. We have sought to put a stop to certain economic practices which did not promote the general welfare.

"Some of the laws which were enacted were declared invalid.

"It is a notable fact that it was not the wage earners who cheered when those laws were declared invalid.

"I greet you in the faith that future history will show, as past history has so repeatedly and so effectively shown, that a return to reactionary practices is ever short-lived.

The President said he was "proud" that the league was holding its meeting in support of his candidacy for re-election.

Just before the league's convention opened, Berry said labor in every state in the union was represented.

'Spirit' Topic at Science Church

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

The Lesson-Sermon included these verses about Jesus, from Luke: "And there was delivered unto him the book of the prophet Esaias. And when he had opened the book, he found the place where it was written, the spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, . . . Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them."

Among the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the words: "Jesus was unselfish. His spirituality separated him from sensuousness, and caused the selfish materialist to hate him; but it was this spirituality which enabled Jesus to heal the sick, cast out evil, and raise the dead."

Peter Lorre ran away from his home in Vienna when 17, stirred by the impulse to go on the stage though he had never seen a play.

JOURNAL OPENS COLUMNS TO MAJOR PARTIES FOR CAMPAIGN WAR

DEMOCRATS, REPUBLICANS OF COUNTY FIRE FIRST BLASTS IN NEW FORUM

The Journal today opens its columns, free of charge, to the Democratic and Republican party organizations of Orange county. Every day through the duration of the presidential campaign, ending with the general election in November, each party will be allotted an equal amount of space in which to present its party aims, indict the platforms and records of its opposition, and carry on its campaign looking toward the election of its principal nominee and his running mate.

This forum is established, not as offering benefit to the political organizations, but solely as a service to Journal readers in order that they may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the campaign.

Horace C. Head, Santa Ana attorney and chairman of the Democratic campaign committee of Orange county, is in charge of that party's contribution to the column, with B. Z. McKinney, Santa Ana attorney, as editor. Howard Irwin, Fullerton real estate man, is in charge of the Republicans' offerings to the column, with William O. Hart, editor of the Orange Daily News, as editor-in-chief.

Following are the initial blasts fired by the parties in The Journal's new political forum:

By THE DEMOCRATS

The Democratic campaign committee, of which Horace Head is chairman for Orange county, desires first of all to thank the Santa Ana Journal for affording it the opportunity of presenting through this editorial column, each day between now and election, the views of the Democratic party of Orange county.

It will be the policy to express in this column our views in an impersonal manner and to give the public certain information and facts with the greatest degree of accuracy possible.

No Personalities

We feel that a candidate for the presidency should be viewed not only in the light of his statements made while a candidate for that office, but also his expressed views should be reconciled as far as possible with his previous public record in office on the same subject. This we do not feel should be considered indulging in personalities.

We believe that every voter is entitled to his own convictions and beliefs. We have no quarrel with him if they are different from ours.

Invite Criticism

We will, however, seek to present such matters in these columns as we feel the voters are entitled to be informed about, in order that they might more intelligently exercise their right of franchise.

The editor of this column will appreciate constructive criticism and invites and welcomes suggestions for editorials and editorial material. Probably every individual favoring the re-election of Franklin D. Roosevelt has a particular reason for so doing. We would like to present as many of these reasons through this column as possible.

By THE REPUBLICANS

Under the American political system, the party in power must stand trial before a jury of American voters every four years, must give satisfactory account of its stewardship, must defend the record established.

It is a wise provision of the constitution that this is so, for it is a weakness of human nature that man becomes drunken with power. The knowledge that there is soon to be a period of accounting tends to keep our rulers withing the bounds of law and reason.

In the fourth year of the exercise of national power, the Democratic party approaches the 1936 election in the position of a defendant. It has established a record. This record is either good or bad. Whatever it is, the Democratic party must defend it.

Will Attack Record

Naturally, the Republican party will undertake to show that the record is bad. That is the function of the opposition party, a just and necessary function, since government without political opposition becomes absolute in power. Wherever political opposition is crushed, dictatorship appears and men lose their liberty.

The indictment drawn by the Republican party in this campaign is more harsh than any that has appeared in the present century.

It charges the Roosevelt administration with attempt to subvert the form and spirit of American institutions and to substitute therefore an alien-inspired philosophy of government which is the antithesis of Democracy.

'Lust for Power'

It charges the Roosevelt administration with a lust for power which seeks to destroy the balance of constitutional function and throw into the hands of the executive that authority which lawfully belongs to the congress and the supreme court.

It charges, in brief, that the Roosevelt administration would draw unto itself such government powers as dictators hold and exercise.

It charges waste and extravagance in administration, stupidity in financial policy, the debauching of the merit system in public service, the adoption of Tammany methods in the handling of public business, blundering efforts to deal with the relief problem and with recovery.

'A Towering Debt'

It points to a towering national debt, a depreciated currency, unbridled public spending, broken pledges of balancing the budget, and a total failure to reduce either the causes or the amount of unemployment.

It denounces the economy of scarcity which destroys wealth and increases the cost of living to the common man. It denounces those foreign policies which throw open the American market to cheap labor.

Agriculturally Speaking

It denies the soundness of that economy which subsidizes agriculture and at the same time turns over world markets to the competitors of the American farmer.

It charges an effort to array labor against capital and to destroy that harmony of social forces which alone makes possible peace and prosperity.

It is not the purpose of this article to evaluate these charges but merely to outline the form which the campaign will take. During its course, the evidence will be adequately presented to the jury.

Legion Auxiliary Units Win Prizes

Two Orange county units of the American Legion Auxiliary were reported as winners in the organization's publicity contest, as state convention of posts and auxiliaries opened yesterday in Hollywood.

Joseph Rodman unit, Huntington Beach, placed first in Class C2, for units with 76 or more members, whose publicity appeared in weekly newspapers.

Although the location and post of Reveille unit could not be ascertained through Santa Ana Legion sources, the group was reported as the second Orange county unit to place. It was named second in Class B2 for units of 76 members or more, whose publicity appeared in suburban daily papers.

SUDDEN RAIN AND GALES COOL CITY

Wind Wrecks Signs in Santa Ana; Mercury Falls Rapidly

Hurricane!

That was what eastern visitors exclaimed in Santa Ana early Saturday evening, as the sky became overcast, gust breezes shook buildings and blew down signs and a sudden downpour struck the city, leaving behind it .06 inches of rain.

The "freak" weather really was the tail end of a hurricane which swept up the Mexican coast, weathermen explained today, with the explanation that the strong winds and strange weather here were due to spreading of a low-pressure area from the lower Colorado river into Southern California.

.16 Inches Falls Here

Rainfall was reported in widely-separated areas of the county. Santa Ana's precipitation for the entire day was duplicated in Huntington Beach, where .16 inches fell. In nearby Newport-Balboa, only .02 inches were recorded. Northern Orange county escaped any large amount of rain, but heavy gusts of wind shook buildings, blew down signs and tore branches from trees.

Temperatures in Santa Ana responded to the strange weather by bouncing from a low of 70 degrees at 8 a. m. to a high of 98 at 5:25 p. m. just before the storm reached its height. At 6 p. m. Saturday, the mercury had dropped to 80, and continued downward with cooling breezes until a low of 69 was reached at 3 o'clock this morning.

Gale in Los Angeles

Other Southern California sections were more seriously affected, it was reported, with a 40-mile gale, the strongest in 30 years, recorded in Los Angeles, where several light buildings were blown down and a number of person overcome by heat.

Desert sections suffered some damage from cloudbursts, with most of the damage reported from the Los Angeles headquarters of the Metropolitan Water district aqueduct construction project.

Policy Holders Planning Suit

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—An application for permission from noncancellable policy holders to sue the new Pacific Mutual Life Insurance for declaratory relief is to be argued in court at a late session today.

Attorney Ray Howard presented the application, declaring policy holders object to reduction in benefits under a transfer of assets from the old company to the new by the state insurance commissioner.

FIVE MILLION SAVED

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Judgment won by U. S. Attorney Pierson M. Hall's office in 373 war risk insurance cases in the last three years saved the government $5,321,005.08 in claims, he reported today. World war veterans won 89 judgments for $648,204.92.

ONE STABBED IN QUARREL ON STRIKE

Mexicans of La Habra Battle; One Jailed, Other in Hospital

A heated argument over last month's orange pickers strike today had landed one Mexican in the county hospital with a stab wound in his back, and his alleged assailant in the county jail on a felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The injured man is Celestino Minjares, 23, La Habra, who was under treatment for stab wounds. Physicians said he probably would recover.

His alleged assailant, Jose B. Quintero, 32, La Habra, was awaiting hearing on the assault charges. He was arrested by Constable W. D. Tremaine of Brea township Saturday night and returned here by Deputy Sheriffs A. W. Fullerton and John Ryan, who were called when Tremaine reported the fight, at a Mexican restaurant near La Habra, was out of control.

Officers said both men had been drinking.

Young Democrats Gather Tonight

Young Democrats of Santa Ana will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Green Cat cafe for their regular dinner meeting and business session, announced Curtis Burrows, club president.

Several speakers are scheduled for the affair.

JAIL BETTER THAN PARK BENCH

LOS ANGELES.—Roy V. Smith preferred the security of a prison cell to hungry, bedless freedom.

"That's why I smashed a few locks in the Long Beach postoffice," he told Federal Judge Harry A. Hollzer.

Smith's preference was granted. It amounted to three years in a federal prison.

VARIATION ON AN OLD THEME

JOLIET, Ill.—WPA workmen on a pavement extension job here were astonished when they discovered William Bendele's house right in the middle of the street.

Bendele explained he had to move it there because he couldn't finish paying for a lot he agreed to buy from Adolph Galas.

Political Breakfast Aids Tom McFadden's Campaign; Harry Riley Busy Selling

A campaign breakfast—that's the innovation of the campaign being staged by T. L. McFadden, Anaheim attorney seeking election to the state senate.

Campaigning for the job of supervisor in the third district is all a matter of salesmanship in the opinion of Harry D. Riley, Anaheim, who has sold almost everything and is now busy on the job of selling himself to voters.

Meeting People

McFadden has an organization working for his election to the state senate, he reported, with his fellow attorney, J. B. Tucker, heading the group in Santa Ana.

"I'm not using window cards or windshield stickers, because I know people don't like them," he said.

If a man can sell autos over his district, and sell the idea of bond issues, community chest contributions, and that sort of thing, he ought to be able to sell himself as a supervisorial candidate, reasons Riley, Anaheim, auto dealer.

Known as the "Father of the California Valencia Orange Show," he's counting on the fact that people everywhere know him by his first name and he knows them by their first names. He seeks election as supervisor of the third district.

"I have a nice group of friends working for me in each community," he says. He's making no pre-election pledges or promises except the general one that he'll assume the responsibility in a conscientious and business-like manner.

Judge Benjamin Hayes Created Fine Record of Southland History

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal will publish in order to preserve the memory and deeds outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about Judge Benjamin Hayes.—Editor.)

Most of all Judge Benjamin Hayes was human. In the administration of his duty and justice he was sympathetic and understanding, especially to the poor.

His was a simplicity of character. He was liberal and most responsive and helpful when some good cause needed his efforts.

He was unassuming, good and gentle, and he scorned money beyond his needs. How lucky California was to have such a man enter upon the scene during the trying times when law and order was so much in evidence, and really that period of transition from Mexican to American control was a trying one. It took a man like Judge Benjamin Hayes to fill the needs of Southern California.

He was born in Baltimore Feb. 14, 1815. He was educated at St. Mary's. He passed the Maryland bar at the age of 24. He moved to Missouri and practiced law, and while there he published a temperance magazine which gathered a good following.

In 1850 Judge Benjamin Hayes arrived in Los Angeles. He was elected county attorney, which was then a prosecuting attorney.

When he joined partnership with Jonathan R. Scott he resigned as county attorney. His resignation was rendered in September, 1851.

He was elected judge of the southern district in 1852 and he held this job until Jan. 1, 1864.

He happened along when Southern California needed his high mindedness, due to the letdown and failure of Mexican rule.

He had an encyclopedic mind. He kept scrapbooks of his experience and of what was going on nationally and locally. His was a fund of valued information. Bancroft, the historian, was greatly indebted to him for much of the accurate information in his valuable work.

"His Pioneer Notes" is recognized as authority by historians. His was an immense contribution to history.

His son, Fred, was former mayor of Los Angeles.

He died Nov. 15, 1877 at Hotel Lafayette in Los Angeles, where he lived.

He came often to the towns in this district to administer justice, and he traveled by horse or carriage.

His greatest contribution was justice with an understanding mind and a sympathetic approach.

LAGUNA'S ART GALLERY DEBT IS HALF PAID

Contributions, Member Drive And Fiesta Raise $2575

Thirteen hundred and twenty-five new members and half the mortgage on the art gallery paid off—those are two of the goals attained by the Laguna Beach Art Association which climaxed its membership drive and annual fiesta Saturday night at the annual meeting in the gallery.

George E. Emmons of Laguna Beach and Pasadena was elected new president of the association at that time, succeeding George Brandriff, and prizes for the member campaign were awarded, first going to Mrs. George Perkins, 2418 French street, Santa Ana.

20 Pictures Awarded

The 20 pictures by artist members went to Mrs. Lapiere, Mrs. Olive Willard, Beulah May, Mrs. George Smith, and Mrs. J. S. Landis, Santa Ana; Adelaide Watts, Mrs. Florence Bowren, Ed J. Gardner, Mrs. Frank Elder, Jack Lightheart, George Riddell, Mrs. W. A. Wolfe, R. BuSoe, and G. Robert Parker, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Frank Brunish, Hollywood; Mrs. Frank W. Ford, Pomona; Mrs. LeRoy Lyon, Anaheim; R. Thistlewhite, Los Angeles; H. Marney, New York City; Mrs. H. W. Herlihy, Pasadena.

Mrs. James Irvine, who headed the committee of women in charge of the member drive, also contributed a valuable gift to the association, giving a sum equal to the amount raised by the festival, which was $900.

$2575 Raised

Total sum raised through the combined efforts of the member campaign, the annual Festival of Arts and generous contributions of several friends was $2575, more than half the mortgage on the Laguna Beach Art Gallery.

On Mrs. Irvine's committee were Mrs. Louis F. Moulton, chairman of membership, Mrs. Agnes Yoch West, secretary, Mrs. Harry Gordon Martin, treasurer, Mrs. Lou Merritt, personnel director, and Mrs. Loyal K. King, publicity.

A Banking Policy That Makes Community Progress Practical!

PROGRESS, in any community, must find its source in finance. A new store, a new factory, an improved ranch, a new enterprise of any nature, . . . all are dependent on financial aid before they can become a reality. It is in providing this financial service that the First National Bank in Santa Ana serves this community, and has served it for many years.

The mere physical functions of a bank, however, have never suffered in completing our service. More important has been the personal interest, of those connected with this bank, in the encouragement of any enterprise that would benefit the people of Santa Ana. Loans have been cheerfully granted, financial advice freely offered, when an opportunity for community improvement has been submitted.

Such has been the policy of the First National Bank through the years, and such will continue to be its policy as Santa Ana continues to grow in importance.

Helen Furgason Becomes the Bride of Elmer Ritner in an Outdoor Ceremony

Gardens of Manse Scene of Sunday Wedding in Tustin

Wearing a white satin wedding dress, made in princess style with high neck, long sleeves tucked at the elbow and fitted tightly from elbow to wrist, and the skirt touching the floor all around, Miss Helen Emma Furgason, daughter of Mrs. Maude Furgason of Tustin, made a charming picture last night when, in a beautiful garden setting, she was united in marriage with Elmer Judson Ritner, member of an old-time Tustin family.

The blonde beauty of the young bride was set off by the Juliette cap she chose to wear with her wedding gown, lovely with its unique setting of pastel colored stones, and her flowers were gardenias and white roses in a shower bouquet.

She was given in marriage by her uncle, B. B. McCulla, with whom and with her aunt, Mrs. McCulla, she had made her home for the past nine years on Bryan street in Tustin.

Friends Attend Bride

Miss Marian Carson, in blue organdy, was the maid of honor. Her dress was also floor length and worn with hat and jacket of matching color and material, and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow pompon dahlias.

Two bridesmaids also attended the bride, Miss Audrey Pieper, in yellow organdy, and Helen Betty Ritner, in peach organdy, their dresses made alike with high neck and short sleeves and touching the floor. Both carried sprays of blue water lilies, giving an exquisite touch of contrast to their costumes.

Marjorie Lou Braasch and Margaret Elizabeth Rawlings were the flower girls, the former wearing blue taffeta and the latter pink organdy, and both carrying formal bouquets of sweet peas in pastel tones.

Brother Best Man

Elwood Ritner attended his brother as best man, and a brother of the bride, Phillip Furgason of Big Bear, together with Kenneth Phelps of Long Beach, a cousin of the groom, acted as ushers.

Before the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Calvin Duncan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin in the beautiful lighted gardens behind the manse, in the presence of one hundred guests, Mrs. R. E. Carswell played an organ medley of wedding pieces.

Another Brother Sings

She also accompanied the groom's brother, Horace Ritner, whose lovely voice was heard in the the singing of "Because," by D'Hardlot, and "O Promise Me," by DeKoven.

When it was time for the ceremony, Mrs. Carswell played the well known "Wedding March" from Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin," concluding her recital later with Mendelssohn's "Recessional" as the wedding party left the garden.

Home Reception

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Ritner, on South B street, Tustin, where beautiful summer flowers decked the rooms.

Wedding cake and a three-tiered bride's cake trimmed in pink roses and a tiny bride and groom, stood at either end of a pretty table at which the bride cut the first slice of the cake for her guests. Assisting the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Ritner, were Mrs. Furgason, the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. McCulla, Miss Virginia Carson, and Miss Marianne Newcomer.

San Francisco Bound

Departing later in the evening with her new husband, the bride changed to a grey sport suit with grey shoes and hat and with blouse and other accessories of red. They planned to motor to San Francisco for 10 days, returning then to make their home on South Broadway in Santa Ana.

Both are members of well known Tustin families, the bridegroom claiming that town as his birthplace. Both are graduates of Tustin Union High school, and the bride later attended Santa Ana Junior college, where she was a member of the Spinsters' club, and then took a secretarial course at Johnson's business college.

In Dairy Business

Mr. Ritner followed his high school course with three years at Iowa State college in Ames, Ia. He is now associated with his father in Ritner's dairy.

Among the out-of-the county guests attending the nuptials of the popular couple, who have been widely feted since announcement of their plans to wed, were:

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wearne and daughter, Marilyn, Charles Deaver, Miss Emma Ritner, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Johnson, and Mrs. Gene Waterman, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Rust Hall, Mrs. Leta Hawkins, of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phelps and son, Joe, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. George Teanie, Costa Mesa; Mr. and Mrs. William Passer, Redlands; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Deaver, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Deaver, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Deaver, Escondido; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Conklin and daughter, Lorraine, Corona; Miss Dorothy Bailey, Victor Colburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown and son, Joe, Van Nuys; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Furgason, Pomona; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Youde and daughter, Margaret, Fullerton.

Breakfast Party At Laguna

Laguna Beach hotel's beautiful Marine room, with its view of the sea, formed a delightful setting Saturday for a breakfast party presided over from 11 o'clock until 3 o'clock by Mrs. C. W. Harrison of 2109 Greenleaf, Santa Ana, as a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Pauline Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wells of 2020 Victoria Drive.

The party is one of the first of a series planned before the marriage of the popular Santa Ana girl some time this fall to C. Douglass Ferry, son of Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Ferry of Los Angeles, and served also as a welcome home for Miss Wells who has been sojourning in the east since her graduation from Stanford in the spring.

Announcement In Spring

Announcement of the betrothal of the couple was made at a breakfast in Lagunita Court, Miss Wells' residence at the college campus, and was told in the traditional manner of the house to the senior classmates in the court.

Black, silver, and white was the striking color scheme employed by Mrs. Harrison in her party courtesy Saturday. Seating her guests at one long table for breakfast, she chose a formal arrangement of beautiful mixed flowers and fern for the centerpiece, with sprays of maiden hair fern and dainty pink antiganon extending along the table from the bowl.

Flowers Center Table

Maiden hair fern also formed the base of the bouquet, holding first a circlet of yellow, orchid, pink and white sweet peas in artistically arranged clusters, with pink and white amaryllis at the top and with tiny pink pompon dahlias and white anemone cosmos placed here and there through the bouquet.

Other beautiful bouquets were arranged in corners of the room, harmonizing wtih the white and blue-orchid color scheme of the furnishings.

At each place was a white gardenia corsage for the guest, adding beauty and fragrance to the lovely table appointments.

Bridge Follows

Bridge followed the breakfast, those gathering to enjoy the day and honor Miss Wells being Miss Lella Watson, Miss Evelyn Fairley, and the Mesdames W. F. Menton, W. J. Morris, C. E. Walker, W. L. Deimling, and George R. Wells, the latter the mother of the honored guest, all from Santa Ana.

Mrs. F. C. Ferry, mother of Miss Wells' fiance, Mrs. Neil D. Sinclair, and Miss Elizabeth Sinclair, all of Los Angeles; Mrs. Robert U. Smith of Anaheim, Mrs. Francis S. Klawiter of Long Beach, Mrs. Earl Douglas of Whittier, and the hostess.

To Miss Wells at the close of the afternoon the hostess presented a beautiful silver bread service tray, as a special guest award. Prizes in the bridge games went to Mrs. Sinclair and Mrs. Smith, the former's being a crystal cheese and cracker set and the other a crystal dish embossed in silver.

HONEYMOONING IN MONTANA

In a quiet ceremony Friday morning at the First Presbyterian church of this city, with the Rev. M. O. Scott McFarland officiating, Miss Martha Jewett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Jewett of Tustin, and Woodrow W. Kemp, son of Mrs. Pearl Kemp of 1008 West Chestnut street, were united in marriage. Both are graduates of Polytechnic High school.

The bride wore a gray gabardine suit with gardenia corsage, departing after the wedding with her husband for a two-week trip to Belgrade, Mont., where they will visit her brother-in-law and sister. When they return, they will live in Tustin, where Mr. Jewell manages a cafe.

KOOL KOOKERY

Dedicated to helping Santa Anans arrange cooling meals with a minimum effort and cooking, this column will present daily a recipe appropriate for hot-weather menus.

Meringue behaves as it should for Mrs. J. H. Bray, because she adds a pinch of cream of tartar to the egg whites.

Pineapple pie is her favorite base for meringue. She makes it according to a recipe given to her shortly after her marriage, and has used it many times during ensuing years.

To the juice of a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple, she adds enough water to make two cups of liquid, and brings it to a boil. She mixes one cup of sugar, yolks of two eggs, a small lump of butter and two heaping tablespoons of cornstarch, and adds to the pineapple juice with one teaspoon of vanilla.

After removing and cooling the thickened mixture, she adds the crushed pineapple, smooths it into a pie shell, covers it with egg white and browns the meringue.

Santa Anans Home From Fiesta

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Deardorff of South McClay are back in Santa Ana following a delightful week spent in Santa Barbara while the annual Fiesta of Old Spanish Days was in progress.

Delighted with the beauty of the entire affair, the Orange countians in attendance were especially interested in the opening parade last Thursday in which John Wagner, pioneer horseman of Placentia, mounted on his palomino, La Reina, led a group of six black horses from this county.

Ride in Parade

Mr. Wagner, in blue velvet and silver Spanish costume, and on his cream colored horse, made a striking figure against the black steeds which were ridden by Mr. and Mrs. McBeth, Gene Thomas, Mrs. McClure, Mrs. Ward, and Louis Zoller. All the latter were in Spanish costumes of black velvet and silver, with red blouses. They are all members of El Rodeo riding club in Placentia.

Bill Jones of Huntington Beach led another group, which included George Boyd, Mr. McClure and Billie Whitehead.

Enjoy Pageant

Outstanding among the events attended by the Deardorffs and other Santa Anans was the lovely pageant, "Memorias de Santa Barbara," composed by Charles E. Tressley, presented in five scenes on the largest revolving stage in the world at the new Santa Barbara bowl.

The pageant had as its theme "the life, love and romance of early Santa Barbara," shown in music and dancing, and old covered wagons were featured in the third scene. At 10 o'clock, just as the moon rose over the oak-covered hills in the background, hundreds of horses and riders started down the winding hillside trail to the stage below, several of Orange county's riders taking part.

Honors came home with at least one of the group of equestrians from here, Billie Whitehead of the Irvine ranch winning a beautiful silver bit in the rodeo Friday afternoon.

BRIDE AND GROOM TO LIVE IN SAN DIEGO

Departing this week-end for a new home in San Diego were Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Moore, jr., (Helen A. Overton), whose wedding Aug. 3 in San Pedro was announced last week by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Overton of 1409 South Garnsey.

Mrs. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moore of Dallas, is a graduate of the local high school, and the bridegroom received his schooling at St. Mary's Academy High school in Texas and Texas Christian college. He is connected with the Save Electrical company in San Diego.

Attending the young couple in their marriage ceremony were Mr. Moore's brother, Russell Moore, and Mrs. J. C. Hosea. The bride wore a blue tweed suit with gray accessories, and was united in marriage with Mr. Moore in the manse of the San Pedro Presbyterian church, the Rev. Mr. William Darsie, pastor of the church, officiating. They returned here for a short honeymoon before going south.

NEIGHBORS SAY FAREWELL TO MRS. ROBINSON

The Robinsons had lived on Spurgeon street, in the 1800 block for about 12 years, and as a memento of their friendship through those years their neighbors presented them with an order for a living Christmas tree to set out in the yard of their new home.

The afternoon at the Lauderbach home was spent informally, with a refreshment course served at the end at small tables set with flower centerpieces.

Guests included the Mesdames J. H. Nicholson, W. P. Allen, Walter Mars, William Wadell, E. M. Beasley, Ben Beasley, William Gebb, Helen Meisenger, William Penn, Elizabeth Scheel, and Alice Scheel, and the guest of honor and hostess.

T. E. WILLIAMS GOES EAST

Thomas E. Williams of 2477 Riverside Drive, head of the fine arts press and printing department of Santa Ana Junior college and high school, left Sunday for a two-week vacation in the east, traveling by a new streamline train from Los Angeles to Chicago, where he will visit the family of his brother, R. T. Williams.

Returning by way of Maysville, Mo., he will visit his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Williams and his sister, Miss Marguerite Williams, and will make stops in Concordia, Kan., to see another brother, in St. Joseph, and in Kansas City.

Mrs. Williams' father, Gus Pence, and her sister, Mrs. W. S. Stire, and family, all of San Fernando, and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Stanton of Beverly Hills came over Sunday to see Mr. Williams before his departure. Mrs. Stires will stay with Mrs. Williams for several days, and her father will remain throughout Mr. Williams' absence.

TOROSAS PLAN PARTY

PRO PATRIA

Tip Sams had twins
And a razor-back sow,
Five dogs and a mule
And an old roan cow;
A bone-spavined filly
And a one-room house,
And a little wrinkled woman
Just as meek as a mouse.
Old Tip raised tobacco
And he trafficked in skins,
For he had seven sons
In addition to the twins,
And every mother's son
And the little mammy Jude,
Smoked a pipe all day
And the twins both chewed.
But Tip kept a-digging
And he never lost heart,
For the dogs hunted rabbits
And they caught a right smart;
And the bone-spavined filly
And the mule pulled a plow,
And they lived off the givings
Of the old roan cow,
And the acorn-fattened farrow
Of the razor-back sow.
But the story closes
Of my little romance,
For the seven sons are sleeping
On the battlefields of France;
But their daddy grows tobacco
And trafficks still in skins,
And the little wrinkled mammy
Has another pair of twins.

LINEN GIFTS SHOWERED UPON BRIDE-TO-BE

A pretty affair of Sunday was a linen shower and party given by Miss Mary Emil Majors in the gardens of the E. R. Majors home on North Flower street, honoring Miss Harriet Chapin who is to be married later this month to Gene Anderson.

The hostess, in a pink organdy tea gown, received her guests in the lovely garden setting, all the friends coming in long tea dresses in gay summer hues. The guest of honor, who was presented with a large tray filled with daintily wrapped linen gifts, was in a charming frock of coral-hued lace.

After cards, prizes in which went to Miss Jean Rowland, high, and to Miss Chapin, second, refreshments were served at tables centered with flowers in bubble vases.

Guests gathering to honor the bride-to-be included her mother, Mrs. P. N. Chapin, and sister, Mrs. Victor Fleming, the latter of Anaheim; Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, and his sisters, the Misses Adelaide and Robbie Anderson, of Anaheim; Mrs. Don Harrison, Mrs. Fayette Birtcher, Anaheim; Miss Bethel Dickenson, Balboa; Mrs. Richard Bird, Redondo.

Mesdames Edward Sugden, Tom Jentges, Herbert Hill, W. Barnett, Roy Griset, Charles Bain, Lee Hasenjaeger, and the Misses Alice Majors, Jean and Betty Rowland, Lucy Holmes, Lois Courtney, Georgia Turner, Mary Jane Sturgeon, Marjorie and Fern Berkner, Genevieve Glover, Gladys Marguerat, and Jeanette Lewis, and the hostess.

WATERS HOSTS TO GERMAN CLUB

German songs and conversation resounded at the home of Dr. D. R. E. Waters and Mrs. Waters in Garden Grove Friday evening when the couple entertained members of Deutscher Verein club.

After gathering in the garden of the comfortable, old-fashioned home, club members enjoyed a pot-luck supper. They sang, with Mrs. Grace Park at the piano and John Lutz as director.

Those present included the Waters, Mrs. Katherine Schmeideberg, Mrs. Catherine Stinson, Mrs. Grace Berk, Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz and Miss Helena Christianson.

It is seldom advisable to arrange flowers in a bowl or vase without first taking off all leaves which would be submerged in the water.

Young Matron Heads Santa Ana Chapter

This is the thirteenth in a series of weekly articles telling the history of women's fraternal, social, professional, cultural and service organizations in Santa Ana. Watch for the fourteenth next week.—Editor.

Youngest matron in two districts is Mrs. John E. Bruns, who heads Santa Ana chapter, Order of Eastern Star, with Carlyle Dennis, youngest patron in the two districts.

In the 14 years since the organization was established in March, 1922, membership has grown from 25 to 236.

Two members of the chapter have served as grand officers, Mrs. Nellie Sylvester being deputy grand matron in the Fifty-seventh district during 1932, and Mrs. Winnie May Dea, grand Ruth in 1935.

Mrs. Helen Kellogg Aubin served as first worthy matron of the chapter, with the late James T. Carter as worthy patron. A banquet at St. Anne's Inn marked institution of the chapter.

Succeeding leaders were Caroline Carter and Asa Hoffman; Louise Mock, William Sylvester; Ada Walters, William J. Dean; Amelia Prather Ostertag, Clark T. Clelan; Nellie Sylvester, Elmer Smith; Florence Wright, Walter Wright; Sadie Roehm, Charles Pritchard; Elizabeth Kloess, Henry D. Meyer; Winnie Mae Dean, George Shipe; Jennie E. Shipe, Ray Spangle; Irma M. Folger, Harvey Dimmitt; Dolly Dimmitt, T. S. Hunter.

Living charter members of the chapter included Mesdames Aubin, Caroline Carter, Lettie Stowe, Clara B. Mecham, Rose Kellogg Chast, Elizabeth Jernigan, Christina M. Cleland and Clark Thomas Cleland.

Prior to the depression, more than 300 persons were active members of Santa Ana chapter. Philanthropic work has been carried on within the chapter, without ostentation, whenever members needed assistance.

An active part was taken in the funds campaign of 1929, when all Masonic and affiliated orders of the city were raising money for the new Masonic temple, completed in 1930.

Serving with Mrs. Bruns and Carlyle Dennis at the present time are Mrs. Max Gowdy and Courtney Chandler, associate matron and patron; Mrs. William McFarren, secretary; Mrs. Al Adrian, treasurer; Mrs. Sue Henry, conductress; Mrs. Glen Lycan, associate conductress; Mrs. C. E. Morse, chaplain; Mrs. Elmer Smith, marshall; Rose Chast, organist; Elizabeth Roehm, Adah; Elsa Edwards, Ruth; Genevieve Holmes, Esther; Isabel Garthe, Martha; Juanita Cozad, Electa; Lillian Ellis, warder; Alex Rez, sentinel.

LE DEJEUNER HAS LUNCHEON IN GARDEN

Ruby Anthon entertained members of Le Dejeuner club Friday at a pot-luck luncheon, serving at tables set out in the backyard.

Discussion of what to study at the next few meetings in connection with their newly selected topic, "Interior Decorating," resulted in choice of a furniture theme for the Sept. 4 meeting. Mrs. Philip Gerard will have charge of the program, which will be held in Anaheim park.

Some of the group played bridge during the afternoon Friday, while others visited, those present being Mrs. Charles Morgan and son, Kenny; Mrs. Edith Storey, Mrs. Walter Reed, Mrs. Carl Bunn, Mrs. Charles McIntyre, Mrs. Everett McKinney and daughter, Ann; Mrs. George Olson and daughter, LaVerne; Mrs. Philip Gerard, and Mrs. Anthon and daughter, Betty Jo, and son, Buddy.

Names for Sunshine Sisters were assigned at this meeting, to carry over for the next three months.

RESORT, NORTH INVITE TRIPS

Just back from a week's house party at Forrest Home, Miss Betty Lee left Saturday afternoon with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Peterman, for Washington, to remain until opening of school next month.

During the past week, Miss Lee was one of a party of eight young Santa Anans who vacationed at the mountain resort. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ira Kloese.

When in Doubt, Don't Marry! No Serious Partnership Can Succeed on Doubt

By MARY STODDARD

She's not to young to feel that she must take the young man who loves her, or give up all idea of marriage and enter training for a career, yet she's too young to know her own mind!

Why must youngsters think that unless they snatch the first opportunity that offers, they will be forever forlorn? Dear Miss Stoddard: I'm turning to you for help in my problem. I am a girl of 19 and live in Santa Ana. For the last year I have been keeping company with a nice boy, who also lives here. He is respectable, courteous and I enjoy being with him. He wants me to become engaged to him and then marry him.

I'm too serious a type to break engagements and make them many times as just an incident, like some girls I know do.

I feel no deep regard for this young man. I am in love with a country boy. I see him seldom—once or twice a year, but for the last two years I have loved him. He is now keeping company with a nice girl, whom I know well.

She has no thought of marriage and does not love him. She said to me that she liked his company and that he was a grand escort.

This country boy does not love me, though when youngsters I was "his girl." Should I marry the Santa Ana boy or not marry at all? I can never love him like I do the other one, whom I know I can never have. Should I turn to a career and try to forget about love and marriage or try to be happy with the young man who loves me?

They are both highy respectable and hard workers. I will appreciate your honest opinion. Thanks.

BEWILDERED NINETEEN.

You are straining at the halter of life, Miss Nineteen. Just give yourself a lot more rope and plenty of time and you'll find that your problem will solve itself. When in doubt, don't marry. Marriage is a mighty serious partnership, even when two people love one another.

There is no reason why you should lose the friendship of the young man you admire, but do not love if you will be absolutely frank with him. But make it clear to him that your interest is purely friendly at this time.

If you are equipped to launch out on a career, do so, but that is no reason, either why love and matrimony are out of your reach.

Such a move might be the very means of your finding just the right man, one who truly loves you and whom you truly love. Until such time as you do, just coast along and keep your relationship with your young men friends on an impersonal basis.

Shower Is Lovely Event

Among the loveliest of the parties of the past week was the dessert bridge given by four Santa Ana hostesses, the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead, Mrs. Russell Wilson, and Mrs. Lee Smith, Saturday afternoon to honor Mrs. Lloyd Shearer, the affair having as its setting the F. F. Mead home at 2119 North Main street.

Rooms of the home were beautifully decorated with flowers in a combination of pink, blue and white tones in basket and bowl arrangements. The honored guest, on her arrival, was presented by the hostesses with a corsage of gardenias.

Stork Motif Prevails

For the dessert course served early in the afternoon, the guests found their places at small tables centered with tiny baby cribs in which baby dolls slept under blankets of pink and white mints. A stork watched over each of the small beds.

Pink storks were also molded into the ice cream servings served with cake, and the tally cards carried out the same motif.

At the close of an afternoon of bridge, prizes were presented to Mrs. Douglas Paterson and Mrs. Don Park.

Gifts Are Presented

A beautifully decorated basket covered with pink crepe paper, and with a large stork on either end, one carrying triplets and the other a tiny baby doll, was brought in during the afternoon and placed before the honored guest, who found many lovely little gifts in the depths of the basket.

Participating in the afternoon's pleasure were the Mesdames Lynn Anderson, Charles McDaniel, Douglas Paterson, Don Park, Robert Bowman, Albert Harvey, Raymond Terry, Edmund C. West, Bernard Parker, George Walker, Lawrence Fricker, W. C. Leichtfuss, Frank Watson of West Lafayette, Ind., Kenneth Beer of Florida, Gene Hayes of San Marino, Calif; and the Misses Ann Tarver, Louise Kiser, Santa Ana, Josephine Stevens of Washington, D. C., Karen Cooper and Ethel Stuart, both of Los Angeles, and the guest of honor and hostesses.

HENDRICKSONS GOING EAST THIS WEEK

Olympic games will furnish the theme for a party in Knights of Pythias hall at 8 p. m. Aug. 14, according to plans made Friday evening by members of Ernest Kellogg auxiliary, V. F. W.

Post and auxiliary members, their families and friends will be guests. It was also decided to resume sewing club meetings in September.

Mrs. Neva May McEvoy was installed as color-bearer and Mrs. Vera Pope as pianist. Mrs. McEvoy reported on the recent visit of auxiliary members to veterans in the Sawtelle hospital.

Mrs. Glenn Hendrickson, unit president, announced that she and Mr. Henderson, commander of the V. F. W. post, will leave this week for a six weeks' vacation trip by automobile to visit relatives in Illinois and attend the national V. F. W. encampment in Denver, Colo., Sept. 13 to 18.

Refreshments were served to auxiliary and post members and their visitors by Mrs. Al Zora Area, Mrs. Irene Stewart and Mrs. Neva McEvoy.

CALUMPIT GROUPS HOLD WIENER ROAST

Members of Calumpit camp and auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans gave a wiener roast recently at Heisler's Point in Laguna Beach, honoring new recruits from that town.

In charge of the affair, which was held on the sands, were Mr. and Mrs. H. Moberly, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and Mr. and Mrs. William Hannah.

MRS. TESSMANN HOME

Mrs. John Tessmann of 309 East Seventeenth street returned Saturday from a month's vacation in Minnesota, where she visited her brother.

Married in Northern City

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clifford Kirk of Tustin and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Staples of Irvine have received details of the quiet wedding ceremony performed last Wednesday night in the Mayflower hotel in San Francisco, in which Miss Neva McDonald, daughter of the Staples, became the bride of Henry Clifford (Bob) Kirk, jr., son of the Kirk family.

Judge Foley performed the ceremony, in which the couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fedde, the bride wearing a brown suit with gold blouse and brown accessories and a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley.

Both bride and bridegroom are well known in Santa Ana, where they attended junior college following their graduation from Tustin High school. The latter also attended Cumnock and finished his education at the University of Alabama, where he majored in the romance languages. He is at the present time official interpreter for the county of San Francisco.

The bride followed her local junior college course with a premedical course at the University of California, which she will complete this coming year. She was affiliated with Las Meninas service group in college here and was prominent in women's athletic organizations in high school.

BRIDGE CLUB CELEBRATES BIRTHDAYS

August birthdays of one of Santa Ana's social clubs were honored Friday evening at a no-host dinner given at the home of two out-of-town members, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Terrell, in North Long Beach.

Places were laid for 16 for dinner served at small tables centered with pompon dahlias in mixed colors and appointed in pretty napery, and a birthday cake was a feature of the dessert course.

Guests included, in addition to the Terrells, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gill, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ewbank, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Shidler, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, all of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White of Cypress, and Mr. and Mrs. William Stanford of Fullerton.

The birthday guests were Mrs. Shidler and Mrs. White, Mr. Lepper and Mr. Terrell; and the wedding anniversary of the Mitchells was also celebrated.

Bridge followed in the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Ewbank and Mr. Mitchell, high, and to Mrs. Lepper and Mr. Gill, second.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

Over in Scotland, the Carnegie United Kingdom Trust, which formerly built libraries in small communities, has advanced a new back-to-the-land scheme.

The plan is that poor families shall be granted from three to 10 acres of land; have a small home built, and then they will be given free expert advice and assistance in cultivating the soil and marketing their products.

Queer over in Scotland, aren't they? Putting people on a ranch, giving 'em free advice and making 'em work the land and raise their own food!

Wonder if we couldn't swap five or six of our boondoggles for some such a plan to go with our free seeds?

Tucker To Rap Strike Violence

Emphasizing his contention that violence is not justified by either strikers or strike-breakers during labor troubles, Judge James B. Tucker will speak tomorrow at the Forum for Political and Economic Education.

He will be one of the speakers at the 7:30 p. m. meeting of the public group in the main hall of the junior college, 917 North Main street.

M. MARTIN PRESENTS SLIM-LINE FROCK OF THREE SLEEVE CHOICES

PATTERN 9943

One look at Pattern 9943 and you're convinced of Marian Martin's flair for turning the Matron out in something chic and slimming. You'll find the three graceful sleeve lengths striking examples of style and utility—for the frock's so becoming that you're sure to want a short sleeved version in cotton for immediate wear, another with three-quarter sleeves in bright crepe or synthetic for Fall—and a third in sheer wool with long sleeves for colder days! See how daintily the jabot ripples downward from the smart yoke while gay buttons cleverly accent the perky revers! You'll be able to make this frock in no time at all with the aid of the Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart.

Pattern 9943 may be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 4⅛ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and style number.

State Size of Pattern

Order our Marian Martin Pattern Book and see how easily you can make your own cool, lovely vacation clothes, house dresses, party frocks, play outfits! See the practical patterns for growing children, the latest trousseau, the "slimming down" designs for heavy figures, and all the fabric news! Book 15 cents. Pattern, 15 cents—25 cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to The Journal, Pattern Department, 117 East 5th street, Santa Ana, Cal.

World's Best-Loved Poems Bring Cheer

Beloved poems! What cheer and comfort they bring—no matter how blue you feel!

Remember those encouraging lines from Longfellow's "Psalm of Life?"

"Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait."

And what peace and satisfaction in this old favorite:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad,
As good and as bad as I."

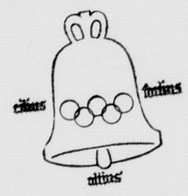

It's from Sam Walter Foss's "The House by the Side of the Road," of course, and how does the rest of it go?

You'll find it and other poems you cherish—complete—in our 32-page booklet. It's full of hope and courage for you. Poems of love, patriotism, religion, childhood, nature. The best-loved poems of these favorites—James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, Walt Whitman, Longfellow, Tennyson and others. You'll enjoy it from cover to cover.

Send 10 cents for your copy of World's Best-Loved Poems to The Santa Ana Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of the booklet

BREAD FROM SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BECOMES

WORLD CHAMPION!

XI. OLYMPIADE 1936
1.-16. AUGUST

June 5th
1036/54 K1/Sz

Mr. Paul H. Helms, President
Helms Bakeries, 8800 Venice Boulevard
LOS ANGELES, California
U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Helms,

The Organizing Committee for the XI. Olympic Games has constructed an Olympic Village, such as so succesfully housed the athletes of the world in Los Angeles.

Information to the Organizing Committee is that your bakery establishment was chosen as the official Olympic Games baker, and that you furnished the Olympic Village with breads for all the various nations.

Would you be so kind as to transmit to our Committee description of these breads, their formulae and especially the recipes which satisfied so much the representatives from all parts of the world? Should you, Mr. Helms, or your head baker be here, we would appreciate your counsel.

We are very pleased about the interest of the California people in our Games, and will certainly do our utmost to satisfy our guests, so that these Games may be worthy of those in Los Angeles.

Sincerely yours
Diem
General Secretary

Now...in Europe ...the recipe for Helms Olympic Gold Medal Bread is chosen for the OLYMPIC ATHLETES

Mayor Frank Shaw of Los Angeles, William May Garland, American member of the International Olympic Committee, and officials of Helms Bakeries speed the requested bread recipes to Europe.

HELMS
OLYMPIC GOLD MEDAL BREAD

that the 19 chefs of Los Angeles' Olympic Village called "the finest bread we've ever tasted," has won a reputation around the world. Chosen for the athletes of the 1932 Olympics, winner of California's first and only Gold Medal, its matchless flavor and fine, "beefsteak" quality have made it the real Bread of Champions. More than 70,000 Southern California homes use it regularly. Try it in your home, today.

Live a Little Longer

IF YOU took a motor trip yesterday without either being endangered or insulted by some damphool in another automobile, you had an unusual day.

For despite the claim to being a civilized people, most of us switch back to the caveman complex when we get our hands on a steering wheel. Look at the death list.

It's a puzzle why decent, courteous men suddenly change into snarling, reckless automobile autocrats at the feel of a pedal under their foot, but it's an appalling fact.

And dozens of preventatives and remedies have been suggested in the past few months. But about the best of the lot comes from a woman who has driven 650,000 miles in 34 years without a reportable accident or traffic violation. She is Mrs. Nell A. Leavitt, 57, of San Francisco, just named by State Motor Vehicle Director Ray Ingels as California's "safest" auto driver.

Mrs. Leavitt—speaking from long experience—believes that common courtesy and everlasting alertness could drive death from the highways. Here are some of the rules she follows:

"Watch the left front wheel of an approaching car to find out what the driver is going to do.

"Keep the speed of your car in mind and be prepared accordingly for emergencies.

"Watch the feet of old people to determine how long they will take to cross the street.

"Give them the right-of-way and allow them to reach the curb.

"When passing areas in which children are playing, keep watch on the youngsters until you are entirely past the playing space.

"Common politeness, courtesy and watchfulness just about sum up the safety measures observable by the driver. Exercise of these qualities would eliminate much of the tragedy in motoring.

"That means yielding the right-of-way, watching the speed of your own car as well as the other, and being prepared for the unexpected."

If those simple maxims could be miraculously injected into the heads of motoring maniacs, the whole problem would be solved. But it can't be done that easily.

It's a matter of education in schools, at clubs, at church, in the newspapers, over the radio, by the police and by the public at large. And since it's a life or death proposition for many of us, the educational campaign can't start too soon or go too strong.

One of the rules Rockefeller says he followed through life was never to lose interest in things. Of course, he never lost a principle, either.

Communism and Free Speech

IF YOU are accustomed to speaking out your mind about the government, be thankful you don't live in Soviet Russia. People who criticize the government there are classed as agitators. And this brief press dispatch tells what happens to agitators in Russia:

"The provincial court sentenced a band of 11 alleged anti-Soviet agitators headed by a medical practitioner today to forced labor and to prison terms from eight to ten years. The defendants were accused of seeking to create conditions inside the country which 'would be favorable to a bourgeois state in case of war'."

It's jail and hard labor for advocating a different form of government in Soviet land. That shows how treacherous and insincere those Communists in America are who defend free speech. The only use they have for free speech is to agitate for a form of government that would suppress it.

An Arkansas dog catcher resigned because of ridicule. Apparently he drew the line at raspberries and dead cats.

America's Olympic Victory

THANKS to the amazing athletic ability of Jesse Owens, the United States found it comparatively easy to capture the Olympic field and track honors.

This great runner and jumper has the acclaim and best wishes of the world today, just as he had of this nation when he first flashed to fame on the campus of his alma mater, Ohio State university.

The triumph of Owens—and the United States—is not at all lessened by the jealous attitude of certain Nazis who say that our place in the sun is due solely to what they call our "black auxiliary force."

There is nothing unsportsmanlike in the presence of Owens, Woodruff, Robinson and Metcalfe on the American team. Indeed, the opposite is true. The unsportsmanlike thing would have been to bar these young men from the honor of free competition with the best in the United States and the world.

Attention, Laguna Beach: You can lead a scantily clad bathing cutie to water, but she'll only use it for a chaser.

Time to Clean-Up

IN COMMON with other decent people, we would welcome some change in American court procedure that would make possible the suppression of filth and dirt that comes to the top in offensive divorce cases.

The unsavory details are public property under the present arrangement. And just so long as this is the case, newspapers which are engaged in a highly competitive business, are virtually compelled to print them.

Yet they are of no real importance. They usually deal with rather degraded people and degraded things. And they serve only to amuse the evil-minded.

It will be a welcome day when wise legislation permits the courts to withhold the sordid details of matrimonial infidelity and strife.

Diary: To the park with the dog, many sprawlers still asleep in the open, fearful to face another day. And talking to my friend John Lawler, the handsome Irish starter at the Ritz, who tells me he has been at his post 25 years. And so for a snack with Arthur McKeogh in the Radio City open garden.

Home to find someone had sent me to William Allen White's famous editorial at the death of his daughter, Mary, which always gives me a choke. And a telegram from Jimmy McHugh, the song writer, and a new photographic map of Gallipolis, from Dr. Charles Holzer, who is to our town what Amon Carter is to Fort Worth.

To dinner with the photographer, Ewing Galloway, his lady Marion being off for Norway and the Zalzburg festival, and we sliced deep into a 2-year-old Kentucky ham, and he told me of his farm, of raising mules and of his poverty-stricken tobacco road days. And no person I've known bears such a resemblance to Lincoln.

Not many New Yorkers have maintained so successfully in the era the finesse of polished bachelordom that is George Jean Nathan's. Past the 50-year mark, he could easily be taken for a blood in middle thirties. He has lived in the same bachelor quarters, a hop skip off the avenue, for 20 years. A front pew critic at a thousand and one first nights, he offers that perfection of polite ennui that has become something of an act. His steadiest company at the theaters, cafes and bonton luncheon places has been the fragile Lillian Gish. But friends insist their attachment is entirely plantonic. And he strengthens this by squiring many new charmers who come to town. Nathan has a leisurely slant about letters. He has a ready market but apparently writes just enough to supply wants and no more. His latest critical chore is a review for the he-manish Esquire.

Young Cornelius Vanderbilt is reputed to have attained a celebrity status in a tour of the orient never achieved in his own country. Japan especially hailed him with a hearty banzai. He was wined, dined and geishaed by several of the reigning peers. Except, perhaps, Roy Howard, no American has been so royally receptioned in the past few years. Vanderbilt has been an odd figure in journalism—a rich man's son whose highest ambition is to be a rough and tumble reporter and back slapped as "Neilly" by the gang. Somehow he just misses the camaraderie he craves. The name Vanderbilt still awes.

Ed Sullivan devotes a column now and then to the piques of Broadway, which he titles "The Feuds of Fraudway." The listings reval many schisms among professional folk. Such as Burns and Allen and Block and Sully looking the other way when they pass. And Rudy Vallee's poisonous hatred for his rival crooner, Will Osborne. Then there are, of course, the Broadway gossip purveyors who are in constant yanh, yanh, yanh. Even restaurateurs indulge in the aloofness. Reuben does not speak to Blue Room Dave. Dave does not speak to Lindy. And so on. A childish street bloated with juvenile jealousies that rival the spite-fence bickerings out yonder.

The most unusual feuds of theatricals existed some years ago between two brother acts—the Roger Brothers and the Russell Brothers. Every day the pairs of brothers were teamed together in "songs, dances and funny sayings." Often hugging each other in faked deliriums of joy, but off the stage the hatreds of the brothers were intense. They never spoke and refused to occupy the same dressing rooms. The dislike endured until death. Yet as I recall a Roger brother left his estate to the brother he preceded. As did the russells.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—It was probably the unhappiest half hour in Bill Green's life. Although he was seated in an air-cooled room, his face was clammy with perspiration. His hands shook with nervousness.

He was about to announce the suspension of the 10 insurgent unions—including his own United Mine Workers—from membership in the American Federation of Labor, of which he is president, if they continued their affiliation with John L. Lewis's committee for industrial organization.

Opposite him stood a small army of newspapermen, awaiting the news. They lost no time in opening up on him.

"Mr. Green, does the action of the executive council today mean that the suspended unions will not be able to vote in the federation's convention next November?"

"The convention will decide."

"Will the suspended unions be allowed to take part in the convention?"

"That's up to the credentials committee," Green answered.

"Who picks the credentials committee?"

Green hit the ceiling. Pointing his finger at the newsman, he roared: "Why do you ask that? Are you imputing something dishonest?"

"Now, Bill," chided another reporter, "take it slow. Don't yell and don't talk so fast. We don't want to miss any of these pearls."

Green glared.

* * *

NO PLACE TO GO

"You hold your union card in the United Mine Workers," another newsman asked. "Now that they are suspended just where does that leave you?"

"I am not interested in that—why bring that up?"

"But we are interested. What about it; can you remain a member of the council or continue as federation president if your union is thrown out?"

"I am not worried," Green dodged.

"We didn't ask you that."

"My standing will be determined by the council. And anyway," Green continued, as jumpy as a cat, "I might join another union."

"Yeah? Which one?"

"Oh, I might join the Newspaper Guild. I am an editor."

"You won't join the guild," snapped a reporter. "Editors are not eligible."

From the Green conference the newspapermen crossed the street to the offices of the United Mine Workers to interview John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee of the suspended unions.

"Mr. Lewis," asked a correspondent, "do you people contemplate court action to enjoin the council?"

"No," was the smiling rejoinder. "We are afraid that if we do we might win."

NEW DEAL ESPIONAGE

Justice Brandeis is inclined to be sympathetic toward most of the aims of the New Deal, but there is one thing he cannot tolerate—the wire-tapping and undercover espionage which has become the rage in Washington.

Calling in a friend who he knew was close to the administration, Brandeis dropped this mild but pointed hint:

"This tapping of telephone wires, this—I hate to use such a nasty word—this espionage; we had it during the war, but it is not compatible with our American traditions."

And that was all he said.

WHITE HOUSE WIRES

Workmen now tearing up the floors in the White House say it is a miracle that fire did not break out there last winter during some state reception or at any other time.

They have found that the conduit pipes containing electric wires were rusted through, exposing the wires to short circuiting. For 35 years this wiring remained unchanged, is only now being replaced.

To do this it is necessary to tear up the parquet and inlaid flooring, all put down originally with handwrought nails. On every floor from the ground floor to the attic, boards are being pried loose, old pipes and wires torn out, and new material laid down.

The White House is getting what the electricians call a new "home run." From the farthermost outlet, all the way back to the panel, or switchboard, the equipment will be new.

The famed East Room looks less like itself than any other. Not only is its furniture draped against the dust, not only is its waxed ballroom floor torn up, but the three gigantic glass chandeliers have been taken down, and shipped out to a cleaning establishment, where each glass pendant is being laundered, piece by piece.

In addition to new wiring, the White House is getting a new automatic fire alarm system. Total cost of the job is $78,000.

Note: The hand-wrought nails are being thrown away.

The United States chamber of commerce, parent of all chambers of commerce, has issued many a blast against New Deal "boondoggling." But the next time one of these fusillades is uncorked, the WPA is all set to slap back with a very interesting exhibit.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Peace Has Its Victories in Olympics

The eyes of the sports world are centered on Berlin. The XIth Olympic Games are under way. Mighty athletes from 50 nations are striving for honors. All the wild talk of war and diplomacy and dark intrigue suddenly loses prominence when eager youth assembles from the corners of the earth to contend for mastery. Setting a new record in any athletic event is much more dramatic than shooting other men, rotting away in stinking trenches, or murdering helpless victims with torpedoes.

* * *

Berlin opens the games with a riot of color and pageantry. Herr Hitler lays aside the useless trappings of office and extends welcome of the Fatherland to thousands of visitors. Fifty delegations march past the reviewing stand, giving the Nazi salute. Only American and the British delegations decline to give the stiff-arm salutation. Color, music, marching thousands, uniformed masses, soul-stirring pageantry — these manifestations may yet do much to relieve the tension which breaks out in war. If the days of peace were filled with glamor there would be little likelihood of war.

* * *

Ancient Greece speaks to modern men in a multitude of ways. But in nothing is her voice more real, more appealing than in this plea of the nations to get together. No people suffered more cruelly and fatally from the follies of war than did the Greeks. The fairest promises that man ever made, the most gifted people that ever walked the earth, were wiped out in senseless strife that left the land a desolation and all their genius a mockery.

* * *

The first Olympic Games date to the fifteenth century before Christ. In 776 B. C. the Greeks began to reckon time from such games. They were national holidays, during which all wars ceased for five days, and the Grecian states mingled together in friendly contests. The games continued every four years, with varying fortunes until their suppression by the Roman emperor, Theodosius, 394 A. D.

* * *

The modern version of the Olympic Games came to life again in 1896 at Athens. They have been held every four years since that date, except in 1916 when the World war was raging. They were scheduled for Berlin that year, but bloody men were turned to other things. The games have increased in variety and scope with each olympiad, at Paris, 1900; St. Louis, 1904; London, 1908; Stockholm, 1912; Antwerp, 1920; Paris, 1924; Amsterdam, 1928; Los Angeles, 1932.

What Other Editors Say

GO AND LOOK, COLONEL

(Baltimore Evening Sun)

The New Deal, according to Col. Knox in his acceptance speech, "began with a proposal for a belt of trees in a territory that nature had decided should not have trees."

So what? Surely, Col. Knox is not laboring under the delusion that the trees aren't there. If he is, the only advice appropriate is simply, go and look. Many of the trees set out in the shelter belt last year under perhaps the worst conditions ever heard of are today alive and as tall as an ordinary man. There is no apparent reason why they may not continue to grow. In the same region, treeless though it was a generation ago, there are many farm houses surrounded by pleasant groves, planted by the farmers themselves.

The decisions of nature are not always irrevocable. Nature, for intance, decided there should be no dam in Boulder canyon, but Col. Knox's erstwhile party leader, Mr. Hoover, decided otherwise. Is there a dam in Boulder canyon? Go and look.

A PLATFORM COMPLICATION

(The Hartford Courant)

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler put his finger on a weak spot in the Republican platform when, on his return from Europe, he criticised the declarations on foreign policy and on foreign trade as "reactionary." Confused they certainly are for they simultaneously pledge the Republicans, if given power, to reduce imports from other nations and to collect the debts that other nations owe the United States. The two pledges nullify each other, for if the other nations are not permitted to sell their goods in the United States, they have no way of creating the exchange necessary for paying the debts. Indeed, the inability of the other nations, following the adoption of the tariff Act of 1930, to sell their goods here was largely responsible for their defaults following the moratorium declared by Mr. Hoover in 1931.

There is nothing which melts the heart so quickly as human distress. The cry of a child instinctively draws our sympathies; the appeal of an adult invites our benevolence. It was Hosea Ballou who warned us never to let our zeal outrun our charity. "The former is but human, the latter is divine." Charity will ever be a blessing to the giver, adding to the strength of our soul, and to the treasury of Heaven. Apropos to our Community Chest campaign, the words of Daniel Webster before the supreme court at Washington, Feb. 20, 1844, are appropriate: "If charity denies its birth and parentage, if it turns infidel to the great doctrines of the Christian religion, if it turns unbeliever, it is no longer charity. There is no longer charity, either in a Christian sense or in the sense of jurisprudence, for it separates itself from the fountain of its own creation." It may be well to mediate upon these things in advance of the campaign which "Sunny" Sundquist and his Community Chest associates will launch later in the year.
